PREFACE

This publication contains the full text of Presidential proclamations and Executive orders issued by President Herbert Hoover and covers the period March 4, 1929, to March 4, 1933. It is a companion volume to the Public Papers of the Presidents series for the Hoover administration.

Since the period predated the Federal Register and the Code of Federal Regulations, this represents the first official printed compilation of the documents. Both proclamations and Executive orders were printed separately by the U.S. Government Printing Office at the time of issuance, and proclamations were published annually in the United States Statutes at Large.

The separate prints have been photographed for use in this volume, except in a very few instances where no print was available, in which case the text was set in type from the signed original.

The signed originals of the proclamations and Executive orders are on file in the Diplomatic Branch, Civil Archives Division, of the National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20408, and may be inspected there. If certified copies are needed for legal evidence or other purposes, requests may be directed to that address.

A subject index to the proclamations and Executive orders appears at the back of Volume II of this compilation. Tables listing documents contained in the publication and earlier orders amended or otherwise affected by them begin on page 1463 of Volume II.

Proclamation 1872. March 22, 1929

[Immigration Quotas]

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

WHEREAS it is provided in the Act of Congress approved May 26, 1924, entitled "An Act to limit the immigration of aliens into the United States, and for other purposes," as amended by the Joint Resolution of March 4, 1927, entitled "Joint Resolution to amend subdivisions (b) and (e) of Section 11 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended," and the Joint Resolution of March 31, 1928, entitled "Joint Resolution to amend subdivisions (b) and (e) of Section 11 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended," that—

"The annual quota of any nationality for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1929, and for each fiscal year thereafter, shall be a number which bears the same ratio to 150,000 as the number of inhabitants in continental United States in 1920 having that national origin (ascertained as hereinafter provided in this section) bears to the number of inhabitants in continental United States in 1920, but the minimum quota of any nationality shall be 100." Sec. 11 (b).

"For the purpose of subdivision (b) national origin shall be ascertained by determining as nearly as may be, in respect of each geographical area which under section 12 is to be treated as a separate country (except the geographical areas specified in subdivision (c) of section 4) the number of inhabitants in continental United States in 1920 whose origin by birth or ancestry is attributable to such geographical area. Such determination shall not be made by tracing the ancestors or descendants of particular individuals, but shall be based upon statistics of immigration and emigration, together with rates of increase of population as shown by successive decennial United States censuses, and such other data as may be found to be reliable." Sec. 11 (c).

"For the purpose of subdivisions (b) and (c) the term 'inhabitants in continental United States in 1920' does not include (1) immigrants from the geographical areas specified in subdivision (c) of section 4 or their descendants, (2) aliens ineligible to citizenship or their descendants, (3) the descendants of slave immigrants, or (4) the descendants of American aborigines." Sec. 11 (d).

"The determination provided for in subdivision (c) of this section shall be made by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor, jointly. In making such determination such officials may call for information and expert assistance from the Bureau of the Census. Such officials shall, jointly, report to the President the quota of each nationality, determined as provided in subdivision (b), and the President shall proclaim and make known the quotas so reported. Such proclamation shall be made on or before April 1, 1929. If the proclamation is not made on or before such date, quotas proclaimed therein shall not be in effect for any fiscal year beginning before the expiration of 90 days after the date of the proclamation. After the making of a proclamation under this subdivision the quotas proclaimed therein shall continue with the same effect as if specifically stated herein, and shall be final and conclusive for every purpose except (1) in so far as it is made to appear to the satisfaction of such officials and proclaimed by the President, that an error of fact has occured in such determination or in such proclamation, or (2) in the case provided for in subdivision (c) of Section 12. If for any reason quotas proclaimed under this subdivision are not in effect for any fiscal year, quotas for such year shall be determined under subdivision (a) of this section." Sec. 11 (e).

And Whereas the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor have reported to the President that pursuant to the duty imposed and the authority conferred upon them in and by the Act approved May 26, 1924, they jointly have made the determination required by said Act and fixed the quota of each respective nationality in accordance therewith to be as hereinafter set forth;

Now, Therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the power in me vested by the aforesaid Act of Congress, do hereby proclaim and make known that the annual quota of each nationality for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1929, and for each fiscal year thereafter, has been determined in accordance with the law to be, and shall be, as follows:

REGULATION 9.—PERMITS TO COLLECT MIGRATORY BIRDS FOR SCIENTIFIC PURPOSES

A person may take in any manner and at any time migratory birds and their nests and eggs for scientific purposes when authorized by a permit issued by the Secretary, which permit shall be carried on his person when he is collecting specimens thereunder and shall be exhibited to any person requesting to see the same, except that nothing herein shall be deemed to permit the taking of any migratory game bird on any day from sunset to one-half hour before sunrise.

Application for a permit must be addressed to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and must contain the following information: Name and address of applicant, his age, and name of State, Territory, or District in which specimens are proposed to be taken, and the purpose for which they are intended. Each application shall be accompanied by two certificates certifying to the fitness of such person to hold a Federal permit. These certificates will be accepted from well-known ornithologists, principals or superintendents of educational or zoological institutions, officials or members of zoological, natural history, or other scientific organizations, or instructors in zoology in high schools, colleges, or universities, or by any one of the above together with a certificate by the chief game official of the State in which the applicant is a resident or of the State in which he desires to conduct his operations.

The permit may limit the number and species of birds, birds' nests, or eggs that may be collected thereunder, and may authorize the holder thereof to possess, buy, sell, exchange, and transport in any manner and at any time migratory birds, parts thereof, and their nests and eggs for scientific purposes; or it may limit the holder to one or more of these privileges. Public museums, zoological parks and societies, and public, scientific, and educational institutions may possess, buy, sell, exchange, and transport in any manner and at any time migratory birds and parts thereof and their nests and eggs for scientific purposes without a permit, but no specimens shall be taken without a permit. The plumage and skins of migratory game birds legally taken may be possessed and transported by a person without a permit.

A taxidermist, when authorized by a permit issued by the Secretary, may possess, buy, sell, exchange, and transport in any manner and at any time migratory birds and parts thereof legally taken, or he may be limited to one or more of these privileges. A taxidermist granted a permit under this regulation shall keep books and records correctly setting forth the name and address of each person delivering each specimen of a migratory bird to him together with the name of each species, the date of delivery, the disposition of such specimen, and the date thereof, which said books and records shall be available for inspection at all reasonable hours on request by any duly authorized representative of the Department of Agriculture.

Each permit shall be valid until revoked by the Secretary unless otherwise specified therein, shall not be transferable, and shall be revocable at the discretion of the Secretary. A permit duly revoked by the Secretary shall be surrendered to him by the person to whom it was issued, on demand of any employee of the United States Department of Agriculture duly authorized to enforce the provisions of the migratory bird treaty act.

A person holding a permit under this regulation shall report annually to the Secretary on or before the 10th day of January during the life of the permit the number of skins, nests, or eggs of each species collected, bought, sold, received, possessed, mounted, exchanged, or transported during the preceding calendar year.

Every package in which migratory birds or their nests or eggs are transported shall have clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside thereof the name and address of the sender, the number of the permit in every case when a permit is required, the name and address of the consignee, a statement that it contains specimens of birds, their nests, or eggs for scientific purposes, and, whenever such a package is transported or offered for transportation from the Dominion of Canada into the United States or from the United States into the Dominion of Canada, an accurate statement of the contents.

Proclamation 1890. September 18, 1929

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

IT HAS BEEN the custom for the President of the United States to request the observance of Fire Prevention Week throughout the nation, and to assign the week in which the anniversary of the great Chicago fire occurs for such observance. The fine interest manifested in fire prevention by public officials, business men's organizations, women's clubs, civic organizations and the press has already borne fruit. For two consecutive years fire losses in the United States have been decreased and there are indications of a further reduction during the present year. A further great reduction of this tremendous waste could be effected through the exercise of ordinary care on the part of our citizens.

Therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim the week of October 6th to be observed as Fire Prevention Week. To each citizen I recommend full cooperation in securing wider understanding of individual responsibility for it is only through further elimination of human negligence that lasting progress can be attained.

AND WHEREAS the President is authorized by the said Section 8 to determine by proclamation made from time to time the existence of the reciprocal conditions aforesaid, as the purposes of the Act may require;

Proclamation 1895. November 5, 1929

(THANKSGIVING—1929)

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

AT THIS season of the year, when the harvest had been gathered in, the thoughts of our forefathers turned toward God with thanksgiving for the blessings of plenty and provision against the needs of winter. They came by custom to look to the Chief Magistrate to set apart a day of prayer and praise, whereon their thanks as a united people might be given with one voice in unison. God has greatly blessed us as a nation in the year now drawing to a close. The earth has yielded an abundant harvest in most parts of our country. The fruits of industry have been of unexampled quantity and value. Both capital and labor have enjoyed an exceptional prosperity.

Assurances of peace, at home and abroad, have been strengthened and enlarged. Progress has been made in provision against preventable disasters from flood and pestilence. Enlightenment has grown apace in new revelations of scientific truth and in diffusion of knowledge. Educational opportunities have steadily enlarged. Enduring advances have been gained in the protection of the public health. Childhood is measurably more secure. New experience and new knowledge in many fields have been recorded, from which a deeper wisdom may grow. We should accept these blessings with resolution to devote them to service of Almighty God.

Now, therefore, I Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do appoint and set aside Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November, as a day of National Thanksgiving, and do recommend that all our people on that day rest from their daily work that they should extend to others less fortunately placed, a share in their abundance, and that they gather at their accustomed places of worship, there to render up thanks to Almighty God for His many blessings upon them, for His forbearance and goodness.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

WHEREAS, it has been shown to my satisfaction by Rufus C. Dawes, President, that a sum of not less than $5,000,000 has been raised and made available to the Corporation conducting the celebration mentioned in this resolution, and whereas the name of this corporation has been changed to A Century of Progress; Whereas its Board of Trustees has obtained the assistance of men eminent in science and industry to aid in presenting those historic inventions and symbols which demonstrate the progress and the modern spirit underlying industry and agriculture, and in general to present exhibits showing advancement in the industrial and fine arts.

NOW, therefore, in compliance with the joint Resolution of Congress, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States, invite the participation of the nations in this exposition of a century of progress, to the end that there may be shown in Chicago examples of contributions made to that progress by the peoples of many nations; and in order that the achievement and inventions of the great men of the world in science, in art, in drama, and in sport as well as in industry and agriculture, may be fittingly acknowledged and acclaimed.

Proclamation 1900. February 21, 1930

OBSERVANCE OF THE COVERED-WAGON CENTENNIAL

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

The Congress by unanimous vote has authorized commemoration of the heroism of the fathers and mothers who traversed the Oregon Trail to the Far West. On April 10, 1830, the first wagon train left St. Louis for Oregon, pioneering the way for the thousands of men and women who settled the Pacific States. On December 29, 1830, Ezra Meeker was born, who carried over into our day the personal memory of this historic epoch. The Oregon Trail Memorial Association, which he founded and which includes men and women in all walks of life in all parts of the country, has sponsored the movement to observe the period from April 10 to December 29 of this year as the Covered-Wagon Centennial, to recall the national significance of this centenary of the great westward tide which established American civilization across a continent.

THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States, do call upon our people to employ this fitting occasion to commemorate the lives and deeds of the heroic pioneers who won and held the West.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the city of Washington this twenty-first day of February, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-fourth.

ANNOUNCING THE DEATH OF THE HONORABLE WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES:

It becomes my sad duty to announce officially the death of William Howard Taft, which occurred at his home in the City of Washington, on the eighth day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty, at five-fifteen o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Taft's service to our country has been of rare distinction, and was marked by a purity of patriotism, a lofty disinterestedness, and a devotion to the best interests of the Nation that deserve and will ever command the grateful memory of his countrymen. His career was almost unique in the wide range of official duty: as Judge, Solicitor General, Governor General of the Philippines, Secretary of War, President of the United States, and finally Chief Justice.

His private life was characterized by a simplicity of virtue that won for him a place in the affection of his fellow countrymen rarely equaled by any man. In public and in private life he set a shining example, and his death will be mourned throughout the land.

As an expression of the public sorrow, it is ordered that the flags of The White House and of the several departmental buildings be displayed at half staff for a period of thirty days, and that suitable military and naval honors under orders of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy may be rendered on the day of the funeral.

DONE at the City of Washington this eighth day of March in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty, and of the Independence of the [SEAL] United States of America the one hundred and fifty-fourth.

CHILD HEALTH DAY

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

WHEREAS the Congress by joint resolution has authorized and requested the President of the United States of America to proclaim annually that May Day is Child Health Day; and

WHEREAS all the States of the Union, together with Alaska and Porto Rico, through their health officers, medical societies, and other agencies of good will, with the support of their respective Governors, are now actively supporting organized child health programs; and

WHEREAS the White House Conference for Child Health and Protection, composed of groups distinguished in all the vital phases of child life, is mobilizing knowledge in practical application for submission to the country at large; and

WHEREAS while applied science and invention have given us world leadership in mechanical processes, we shall fall short of our highest aspirations if we fail to practice all that science can give in service of our fundamental asset—our children; now

THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate May first of this year as Child Health Day, and I do invite all our people and all our agencies interested in boys and girls to assist every reasonable effort of their communities to make this a day for organizing and coordinating interest in child health.

Our children have the right to be born in health; to be well throughout babyhood and the preschool years; to be surrounded with moral and spiritual inspiration; to work and to play through primary school with well minds based on well bodies; to enjoy and to profit to the utmost by their higher schooling because of wholesome habits of thought and deed; thence to graduate into adult life, strong in body and inculcated with the sense of fair play and of responsibility for the rights of others.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Proclamation 1925. November 6, 1930

THANKSGIVING DAY—1930

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Notwithstanding that our forefathers endured the hardships and privations of a primitive life, surrounded by dangers and solaced only with meager comforts, they nevertheless bequeathed to us a custom of devoting one day of every year to universal thanksgiving to Almighty God, for the blessing of life itself and the means to sustain it, for the sanctuary of home and the joys that pervade it, and for the mercies of His protection from accident, sickness, or death.

Our country has many causes for thanksgiving. We have been blest with distinctive evidence of divine favor. As a nation we have suffered far less than other peoples from the present world difficulties. We have been free from civil and industrial discord. The outlook for peace between nations has been strengthened. In a large view we have made progress upon the enduring structure of our institutions. The arts and sciences that enrich our lives and enlarge our control of nature have made notable advances. Education has been further extended. We have made gains in the prevention of disease and in the protection of childhood.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, November 27, 1930, as a National Day of Thanksgiving, and do enjoin the people of the United States so to observe it, calling upon them to remember that many of our people are in need and suffering from causes beyond their control, and suggesting that a proper celebration of the day should include that we make sure that every person in the community, young and old, shall have cause to give thanks for our institutions and for the neighborly sentiment of our people.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States.

Proclamation 1962. August 5, 1931

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—1931

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

It has become customary for the President of the United States to request an annual observance of Fire Prevention Week throughout the nation to stimulate the interest and cooperation of officials, organizations, and citizens in diminishing the losses of life and property from fire.

Last year fires in the United States caused a direct property loss estimated at nearly $500,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000 over 1929. These direct losses affected home owners, farmers, business men, and workingmen. There were many more millions of indirect losses in rentals, broken contracts, unemployment, and interruption to business.

Deaths and injuries to men, women, and children exceeded 35,000 in 1930. The majority of the losses of life and property were the result of carelessness and lack of preventive measures.

The purpose of National Fire Prevention Week is to focus attention on the hazards of fire and to promote preventive measures to reduce this devastating waste.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week of October 4, 1931, to be observed as Fire Prevention Week and earnestly solicit the assistance of each citizen to help lessen the loss and needless waste and suffering from fires which are largely preventable.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

EXEMPTION OF VIRGIN ISLANDS FROM COASTWISE LAWS

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

WHEREAS an act of Congress entitled "Merchant Marine Act, 1920," approved June 5, 1920 (41 Stat. 988), contained the following provisions:

"SEC. 21. That from and after February 1, 1922, the coastwise laws of the United States shall extend to the island Territories and possessions of the United States not now covered thereby, and the board is directed prior to the expiration of such year to have established adequate steamship service at reasonable rates to accommodate the commerce and the passenger travel of said islands and to maintain and operate such service until it can be taken over and operated and maintained upon satisfactory terms by private capital and enterprise: Provided, That if adequate shipping service is not established by February 1, 1922, the President shall extend the period herein allowed for the establishment of such service in the case of any island Territory or possession for such time as may be necessary for the establishment of adequate shipping facilities therefor."

AND WHEREAS an adequate shipping service to accommodate the commerce and the passenger travel of the Virgin Islands has not been established as provided by section 21 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1920; and

WHEREAS the President of the United States, in accordance with the authority vested in him by section 21 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1920, has from time to time, to wit, on February 1, 1922, on May 18, 1922, on October 28, 1922, on October 25, 1923, on April 7, 1924, on October 23, 1924, on April 25, 1925, on November 24, 1925, on August 14, 1926, on August 9, 1927, on August 2, 1928, on July 26, 1929, and on July 28, 1930, issued proclamations extending the time for the establishment of such service and deferring the application of the coastwise laws to the Virgin Islands until September 30, 1931;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by section 21 of the above-mentioned act, do hereby declare and proclaim that the period for the establishment of an adequate shipping service with the aforesaid Virgin Islands be further extended from September 30, 1931, to September 30, 1932;

And inasmuch as the extension of the coastwise laws of the United States to the Virgin Islands, as provided in section 21 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1920, is dependent upon the establishment of an adequate shipping service to such island possession, I do hereby further proclaim and declare that the extension of the coastwise laws of the United States to the Virgin Islands is deferred from September 30, 1931, to September 30, 1932.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Proclamation 1965. August 25, 1931

CONSERVATION OF OUR WATERFOWL

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

The long-continued and severe drought of the past two years has inflicted not only economic hardships by seriously curtailing crop and stock production, but also has resulted in an emergency condition as regards the present and future safety and abundance of the waterfowl of the continent. In large areas of the United States and Canada, through lack of the water on breeding grounds essential to rearing the young birds, the drought has entailed widespread destruction among the former hordes of the wild fowl that migrate to our several States.

This devastation has constituted so great a menace to our wild-life resources and to their future enjoyment by our people as to impel the Secretary of Agriculture to adopt a regulation compatible with the Migratory Bird Treaty Act (40 Stat. 755), whereby during the coming fall there will be an open hunting season on these birds of only one month.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby urge that all persons take cognizance of this emergency, and I call upon all game and conservation officials, State and local, all members of game-protective organizations, landowners, sportsmen, and public-spirited citizens generally to lend their cooperation to effect full observance of this regulation, to the end that adequate numbers of waterfowl may return to their breeding grounds next spring and that there may be no repetition of the calamity of extermination that has already overtaken some species of our American birds.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 25 day of August, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-sixth.

THANKSGIVING DAY—1931

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

We approach the season when, according to custom dating from the garnering of the first harvest by our forefathers in the New World, a day is set apart to give thanks even amid hardships to Almighty God for our temporal and spiritual blessings. It has become a hallowed tradition for the Chief Magistrate to proclaim annually a national day of thanksgiving.

Our country has cause for gratitude to the Almighty. We have been widely blessed with abundant harvests. We have been spared from pestilence and calamities. Our institutions have served the people. Knowledge has multiplied and our lives are enriched with its application. Education has advanced, the health of our people has increased. We have dwelt in peace with all men. The measure of passing adversity which has come upon us should deepen the spiritual life of the people, quicken their sympathies and spirit of sacrifice for others, and strengthen their courage. Many of our neighbors are in need from causes beyond their control and the compassion of the people throughout the nation should so assure their security over this winter that they too may have full cause to participate in this day of gratitude to the Almighty.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, November 26, 1931, as a National Day of Thanksgiving, and do recommend that our people rest from their daily labors and in their homes and accustomed places of worship give devout thanks for the blessings which a merciful Father has bestowed upon us.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

WHEREAS by proclamation of the President, of August 24, 1926 (No. 1781), certain lands described therein forming a part of the San Juan Military Reservation and the Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau reservation situated in Puerta de Tierra, City of San Juan, Territory of Porto Rico, were transferred and conveyed to the people of Porto Rico for highway purposes, subject to certain conditions; and

WHEREAS a certain portion of the land comprising the Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau reservation, heretofore set apart for governmental purposes, is no longer needed for the purposes of the United States; and

WHEREAS such land is desired by the municipality of San Juan, Porto Rico, for the purpose of connecting two thoroughfares, namely, Salvador Brau Boulevard and Ponce de León Avenue, within the limits of said municipality, and may be advantageously used by the people of Porto Rico;

EXEMPTION OF VIRGIN ISLANDS FROM COASTWISE LAWS

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

WHEREAS an act of Congress entitled "Merchant Marine Act, 1920," approved June 5, 1920 (41 Stat. 988, 996), contained the following provisions:

"SEC. 21. That from and after February 1, 1922, the coastwise laws of the United States shall extend to the island Territories and possessions of the United States not now covered thereby, and the board is directed prior to the expiration of such year to have established adequate steamship service at reasonable rates to accommodate the commerce and the passenger travel of said islands and to maintain and operate such service until it can be taken over and operated and maintained upon satisfactory terms by private capital and enterprise: Provided, That if adequate shipping service is not established by February 1, 1922, the President shall extend the period herein allowed for the establishment of such service in the case of any island Territory or possession for such time as may be necessary for the establishment of adequate shipping facilities therefor."

AND WHEREAS an adequate shipping service to accommodate the commerce and the passenger travel of the Virgin Islands had not been established as provided by section 21 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1920; and

WHEREAS the President of the United States, in accordance with the authority vested in him by section 21 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1920, has from time to time, to wit, on February 1, 1922, on May 18, 1922, on October 28, 1922, on October 25, 1923, on April 7, 1924, on October 23, 1924, on April 25, 1925, on November 24, 1925, on August 14, 1926, on August 9, 1927, on August 2, 1928, on July 26, 1929, on July 28, 1930, and on August 19, 1931, issued proclamations extending the time for the establishment of such service and deferring the application of the coastwise laws to the Virgin Islands until September 30, 1932;

Proclamation 2009. September 2, 1932

National Fire Prevention Week—1932

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

In recommending the customary public observance of Fire Prevention Week, I wish to urge that it be made this year an occasion of special significance.

The deplorable loss of thousands of human lives and the property waste of approximately half a billion dollars caused each year by fires should be scrupulously avoided. The American per capita loss now is nearly double that of 20 years ago and constitutes a challenge to our efforts that no citizen can afford to ignore. It is a drain on our created resources which we should strive to eliminate as it is largely preventable.

The observance of National Fire Prevention Week should serve to arouse the attention and stimulate the action of all citizens in preventing fire waste.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week of October 9, 1932, to be observed as Fire Prevention Week. To the many organizations that have taken an interest in this subject I especially appeal that they unite on a definite plan of cooperation to the end that all citizens may be aroused to their individual responsibilities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Proclamation 2015. November 3, 1932

THANKSGIVING DAY—1932

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

WHEREAS at this season of the year our people for generations past have always turned their thoughts to thankfulness for the blessings of Almighty God,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States, do set aside and declare Thursday, November 24, 1932, as a day of national thanksgiving, and I do urge that they repair to their places of public worship, there to give thanks to the beneficent Providence from whom comes all our good; and I do further recommend, inasmuch as this year marks the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the father of our country, whose immeasurable services to our liberties and our security are blessings perennially renewed upon us, that our people refresh their memory of his first Thanksgiving Proclamation, which I append and incorporate in this present proclamation.

By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation.

WHEREAS it is the duty of all Nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey his will, to be grateful for his benefits, and humbly to implore his protection and favor—and Whereas both Houses of Congress have by their joint Committee requested me "to recommend to the People of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness."

Now therefore I do recommend and assign Thursday the 26th day of November next to be devoted by the People of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be—That we may then all unite in rendering unto him our sincere and humble thanks—for his kind care and protection of the People of this country previous to their becoming a Nation—for the signal and manifold mercies, and the favorable interpositions of his providence, which we experienced in the course and conclusion of the late war—for the great degree of tranquillity, union, and plenty, which we have since enjoyed—for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national One now lately instituted—for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and in general for all the great and various favors which he hath been pleased to confer upon us.

And also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of Nations and beseech him to pardon our national and other transgressions—to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually—to render our national government a blessing to all the People, by constantly being a government of wise, just, and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed—to protect and guide all Sovereigns and Nations (especially such as have shewn kindness unto us) and to bless them with good government, peace, and concord—To promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the encrease of science among them and Us—and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as he alone knows to be best.

Given under my hand at the City of New York the third day of October in the year of our Lord 1789.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

WHEREAS Congress enacted and the President, on the 17th day of June, 1930, approved a law known as the Tariff Act of 1930, section 318 of which provides, in part:

"Whenever the President shall by proclamation declare an emergency to exist by reason of a state of war, or otherwise, he may authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to extend during the continuance of such emergency the time herein prescribed for the performance of any act . . . ," and

WHEREAS it is essential that the authority conferred upon the President therein be at this time exercised to the extent hereinafter set forth:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority aforesaid, do hereby find and determine, and by this proclamation do proclaim, an emergency to exist, for sufficient reasons me thereunto moving.

And I do further proclaim and make known that, in my judgment, it is necessary and proper, because of the emergency, that all merchandise imported during the calendar year 1930 and entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1922 or section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (except grain entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930) shall be permitted to remain in warehouse for a further period, and I, therefore, hereby authorize the Secretary of the Treasury, until further notice, to extend the warehousing period for such merchandise so that it may remain in warehouse for periods not exceeding two years after the expiration of the three years prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Acts of 1922 and 1930: Provided, however, that in each and every case the Secretary of the Treasury shall require that the principal on the warehouse entry bond, in order to obtain the benefits under the extension granted, shall furnish to the collector of customs for the district in which the merchandise is warehoused the assent of the sureties on such bond, agreeing to remain bound under the terms and provisions of the bond to the same extent as if no extension were granted, or shall furnish an additional bond with acceptable sureties to cover the extended period.

And I do further proclaim and make known that, in my judgment, it is necessary and proper, because of the emergency, that all wool imported or withdrawn from bonded warehouse during the calendar year 1930 conditionally free of duty, under bond, for use in the manufacture of rugs, carpets, or other floor coverings, under the provisions of paragraph 1101 of the Tariff Act of 1922, and that all wool or hair of the camel imported or withdrawn from bonded warehouse during the calendar year 1930 conditionally free of duty, under bond, for use in the manufacture of press cloth, camel's-hair belting, rugs, carpets, or other floor coverings, or in the manufacture of knit or felt boots or heavy fulled lumbermen's socks, under the provisions of paragraph 1101 of the Tariff Act of 1930, shall be permitted a further period during which proof that the wool or hair has been so used may be furnished; and I, therefore, hereby authorize the Secretary of the Treasury, until further notice, to extend the period during which proof of use may be furnished, so that such proof may be furnished during periods not exceeding two years after the expiration of the three years prescribed in said paragraphs 1101: Provided, however, that in each and every case the Secretary of the Treasury shall require that the principal on the bond, in order to obtain the benefits under the extension granted, shall furnish to the collector of customs for the district in which the bond was given the assent of the sureties on such bond, agreeing to remain bound under the terms and provisions of the bond to the same extent as if no extension were granted, or shall furnish an additional bond with acceptable sureties to cover the extended period.

And I do further proclaim and make known that, in my judgment, it is necessary and proper, because of the emergency, that, as to articles manufactured or produced in the United States with the use of imported or substituted merchandise for drawback purposes under section 313 of the Tariff Act of 1930, a further period for exportation (or shipment to the Philippine Islands) of the completed article should be permitted in those cases where the imported merchandise involved was imported during the calendar year 1930; and I, therefore, hereby authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to extend the period for exportation (or shipment to the Philippine Islands) of the completed article in such cases, so as to include not exceeding five years after importation of the imported merchandise instead of three years as prescribed in section 313(h) of the Tariff Act of 1930.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

ANNOUNCING THE DEATH OF THE HONORABLE CALVIN COOLIDGE

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

To the People of the United States:

It becomes my sad duty to announce officially the death of Calvin Coolidge, which occurred at his home in the City of Northampton, Massachusetts, on the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-three, at twelve twenty-five o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Coolidge had devoted his entire life to the public service, and his steady progress from Councilman to Mayor of Northampton and thence upward as Member of the State Senate of Massachusetts, Lieutenant-Governor and Governor of Massachusetts, to Vice-President and President of the United States, stands as a conspicuous memorial to his private and public virtues, his outstanding ability, and his devotion to the public welfare.

His name had become in his own lifetime a synonym for sagacity and wisdom; and his temperateness in speech and his orderly deliberation in action bespoke the profound sense of responsibility which guided his conduct of the public business.

From the American people he evoked an extraordinary warmth of affectionate response to his salient and characteristic personality. He earned and enjoyed their confidence in the highest degree. To millions of our people his death will come as a personal sorrow as well as a public loss.

As an expression of the public sorrow, it is ordered that the flags of The White House and of the several departmental buildings be displayed at half staff for a period of thirty days, and that suitable military and naval honors under orders of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy may be rendered on the day of the funeral.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this fifth day of January, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-seventh.

production of, and all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to, boots, shoes, or other footwear (including athletic or sporting boots and shoes), the uppers of which are composed wholly or in chief value of wool, cotton, ramie, animal hair, fiber, rayon or other synthetic textile, silk, or substitutes for any of the foregoing, with soles composed wholly or in chief value of india rubber or substitutes for rubber, and boots and shoes or other footwear, wholly or in chief value of india rubber, not specially provided for, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the principal competing countries;

WHEREAS in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

WHEREAS the commission has reported to the President the results of said investigation and its findings with respect to such differences in costs of production;

WHEREAS in the judgment of the President such ad valorem rates of duty based upon said American selling price are shown by such investigation of the Tariff Commission to be necessary to equalize such differences in costs of production;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby approve said report and proclaim that the rate of duty shown by said investigation to be necessary to equalize such differences, within the limit provided in said section 336, on boots, shoes, or other footwear (including athletic or sporting boots and shoes), the uppers of which are composed wholly or in chief value of wool, cotton, ramie, animal hair, fiber, rayon or other synthetic textile, silk, or substitutes for any of the foregoing, with soles composed wholly or in chief value of india rubber or substitutes for rubber, is 35 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price as defined in section 402 (g) of said act of boots, shoes, or other footwear (including athletic or sporting boots and shoes), the uppers of which are composed wholly or in chief value of wool, cotton, ramie, animal hair, fiber, rayon or other synthetic textile, silk, or substitutes for any of the foregoing, with soles composed wholly or in chief value of india rubber or substitutes for rubber, manufactured or produced in the United States; and that the rate of duty shown by said investigation to be necessary to equalize such differences, within the limit provided in said section 336, on boots, shoes, or other footwear, wholly or in chief value of india rubber, not specially provided for, is 25 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price of boots, shoes, or other footwear, wholly or in chief value of india rubber, not specially provided for, manufactured or produced in the United States.

DECREASING RATES OF DUTY ON SPERM OIL, CRUDE, AND SPERMACETI WAX

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

WHEREAS under and by virtue of section 336 of Title III, Part II, of the act of Congress approved June 17, 1930 (46 Stat. 590, 701), entitled "AN ACT To provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, to protect American labor, and for other purposes," the United States Tariff Commission has investigated the differences in costs of production of, and all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to, sperm oil, crude, sperm oil, refined or otherwise processed, and spermaceti wax, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of and with respect to like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the principal competing countries;

WHEREAS in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

WHEREAS the commission has reported to the President the results of said investigation and its findings with respect to such differences in costs of production;

WHEREAS the commission has found it shown by said investigation that the principal competing country for sperm oil, crude, is Canada, and that the principal competing country for spermaceti wax is the United Kingdom, and that the duties expressly fixed by statute do not equalize the differences in the costs of production of the domestic articles and the like or similar foreign articles when produced in said principal competing countries, and has specified in its report the decreases in the rates of duty expressly fixed by statute found by the commission to be shown by said investigation to be necessary to equalize such differences; and

WHEREAS in the judgment of the President such rates of duty are shown by such investigation of the Tariff Commission to be necessary to equalize such differences in costs of production;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States of America, do hereby approve and proclaim the following rates of duty found to be shown by said investigation to be necessary to equalize such differences in costs of production:

A decrease (within the limit of total decrease provided for in said act) in the rate of duty expressly fixed in paragraph 52 of Title I of said act on sperm oil, crude, from 10 cents per gallon to 5 cents per gallon; and

A decrease in the rate of duty expressly fixed in paragraph 52 of Title I of said act on spermaceti wax, from 6 cents per pound to 3½ cents per pound.

[No. 5109]

Executive Order 5110. May 13, 1929

Executive Order

The Consular Regulations are hereby amended as follows:

368. Admissible classes. Only such persons of the Chinese race as are admissible under the provisions of the treaty between the United States and China, signed on November 17, 1880, the Chinese exclusion laws, the immigration laws, and chapter X of the Executive order of September 25, 1925, No. 4314, relating to the exclusion of Chinese from the Panama Canal Zone, are allowed to enter the United States or territory under its jurisdiction.

Paragraph 530 is amended to read as follows:

530. Numbering and recording fees. Consular fees must be numbered and recorded fully and clearly in the record of fees provided for the purpose by the Department of State.

For convenience fees are numbered in two groups, each group beginning with number 1 at the commencement of each calendar year and continuing consecutively throughout the year.

Fees for the certification of consular invoices constitute the first group, and must be numbered in a separate consecutive series of numbers, corresponding numbers being placed on the invoices or certificates.

All other fees collected constitute the second group, and must be numbered consecutively in a separate series, corresponding numbers being placed on the documents at the point indicated, or just beneath the fee stamp.

Paragraph 533 is amended to read as follows:

533. Tariff of United States Consular Fees. The following Tariff of United States Consular Fees is prescribed by the President under authority of Section 1745, Revised Statutes, as amended by the Acts of April 5, 1906, c. 1366, Sections 7, 8 and 9, 34 Stat. 101, and June 4, 1920, c. 223, Sections 1 and 2, 41 Stat. 750, to be charged by consular officers for official services. All charges for such services must be in strict accordance with this tariff, and be collected in the coin of the United States or at its representative value in exchange. No fee or compensation will be collected for any service not covered by this tariff.

The fees in this tariff are not prescribed for American vessels and seamen, because they are exempted by law from the payment of consular fees. Consular agents will make the fees in this tariff a basis of collection from the Treasury for services to such vessels. Foreign-built vessels, unregistered, owned by American citizens, and vessels documented under the laws of the Philippine Islands are not exempt from the payment of the fees prescribed herein.

Services, except those for which fees are fixed in items 8, 9 and 10, under this tariff shall be rendered free of charge when performed: (a) in connection with the settlement of the estate of any employee of the United States dieing abroad while on official duty; (b) for the use of any person in the collection of claims from the United States or from any State for compensation, pensions, backpay, bounty, bonus, property loss in the service of the United States; (c) for obtaining the return of property held by the Alien Property Custodian; and (d) for the official use of the United States Veterans' Bureau.

Consular officers must require all fees to be paid in advance and before the stamps are canceled, except in case of attendance out of office or of commissions, when the amount can not be determined until the service is performed. Advance deposits to cover fees in such latter cases may be accepted but in no other.

This tariff is effective July 1, 1929, and should be posted in a conspicuous place in consular offices as required by Section 1731, Revised Statutes.

Executive Order 5126. May 24, 1929

Executive Order

Paragraph 5 of Chapter VI of the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers of the United States, 1927, "Leaves of absence," is hereby amended to read as follows:

VI–5. Conditions under which leaves of absence are granted.—Leave of absence is granted, within statutory limitations, at the discretion of the President, acting through the Secretary of State. Leaves of absence are of two kinds, simple leave, and leave with permission to visit the United States. The granting of a simple leave of absence does not carry with it permission to return to the United States. A diplomatic officer must receive express permission to return, in order that he may be entitled to the benefit of the statutory allowance of salary in transit.

Simple leave of absence with salary may be granted for not more than thirty days in any one year, except in the case of Ambassadors and Ministers, who may have sixty days leave each year, and except (1) in the case of illness on the part of the officer or a member of his family, (2) in the event of service at a post designated as unhealthy under Section 18K of the Act of May 24, 1924, (3) in the event of service at a post, other than those indicated in (2), designated by the Secretary of State as tropical, but not merely remote or (4) in other exceptional circumstances, when simple leave with pay may be extended to a total of sixty days in one year, but no longer.

Leave of absence with permission to visit the United States, for not to exceed sixty days in each calendar year, may be granted with salary to all Ambassadors and Ministers and for not to exceed sixty days in any calendar year to other diplomatic officers not more often than once in every two calendar years except in cases where the health of officers requires that they should be absent from their posts, when continuous leave not to exceed sixty days in either year may be granted covering parts of two successive years.

Leave is granted for a calendar year and, whether used or not, expires on December thirty-first of that year. When leave with permission to visit the United States (other than by reason of the health of officers) is completed in the United States at the end of a calendar year or expires by reason of the above limitation, the officer may be granted so much of the leave to which he would be entitled, under the foregoing provisions, in the succeeding calendar year as will bring his aggregate leave for the two years to the following amounts subject to the law that the maximum period during which salary may be paid in any one year is sixty days:

(1) Not to exceed ninety days for officers at posts other than those designated as tropical or unhealthy;

(2) Not to exceed one hundred twenty days for officers at posts designated as tropical or unhealthy;
(3) Not to exceed one hundred twenty days in exceptional circumstances other than service in remote places.

In any case in which leave of absence in one calendar year is to be extended to cover continuously all or a portion of the leave for the ensuing year, the absence in the first year may be supplemented in the discretion of the Department by leave without salary in sufficient amount to cover the absence to the end of that calendar year, in order that the leave with pay in the following year may be available. Whenever leave of absence is claimed to be necessary on account of illness it is desirable that a certificate of the physician in attendance be forwarded to the Secretary of State.—R. S. Secs. 1740, 1742.

Leave of absence with permission to visit the United States is granted exclusive of the time actually and necessarily occupied in transit by the most direct route from the officer's post to his residence in the United States and return to his post. Salary for said transit period will be paid in addition to the salary for the duration of the leave of absence.—R. S. Sec. 1742; 14 Comp. Dec. 61. Salary will not be paid for more than one transit period in any one year (10 Comp. Dec. 465; 11 Comp. Dec. 123) except that when all or part of a transit period occurs in a calendar year other than that in which the leave of absence was taken it will not impair the right of the diplomatic officer to another transit period during that calendar year if leave should be granted.—14 Comp. Dec. 61.

If consistent with the public interest leave of absence, for good reason, may be granted for a longer time than that stipulated in the foregoing, but without compensation.—R. S. Sec. 1742; E. O. Sept. 11, 1923.

Article XXIV of the Consular Regulations, 1896, "Miscellaneous services", is hereby amended in part to read as follows:

XXIV

465. Absence must be reported.—All absences of consular officers from their posts, whether by leave or otherwise, must be reported to the Secretary of State and will be regarded as part of the sixty days' leave during which a consular officer may be absent in one year without loss of salary.—12 Op. Att. Gen. 410; E. O. Aug. 26, 1919.

467. Conditions under which leaves of absence are granted.—Leave of absence is granted, within statutory limitations, at the discretion of the President, acting through the Secretary of State. Leaves of absence are of two kinds, simple leave, and leave with permission to visit the United States. The granting of a simple leave of absence does not carry with it permission to return to the United States. A consular officer must receive express permission to return, in order that he may be entitled to the benefit of the statutory allowance of salary in transit.

Simple leave of absence with salary may be granted for not more than thirty days in any one year, except (1) in the case of illness on the part of the officer or a member of his family, (2) in the event of service at a post designated as unhealthy under Section 18K of the Act of May 24, 1924, (3) in the event of service at a post, other than those indicated in (2), designated by the Secretary of State as tropical, but not merely remote, or (4) in other exceptional circumstances, when simple leave with pay may be extended to a total of sixty days in one year, but no longer.

Leave of absence with permission to visit the United States, for not to exceed sixty days in any calendar year, may be granted with salary not more often than once in every two calendar years, except in cases where the health of officers requires that they should be absent from their posts, when continuous leave not to exceed sixty days in either year may be granted covering parts of two successive years. Leave is granted for a calendar year and, whether used or not, expires on December thirty-first of that year. When leave with permission to visit the United States (other than by reason of the health of officers) is completed in the United States at the end of a calendar year or expires by reason of the above limitation, the officer may be granted so much of the leave to which he would be entitled, under the foregoing provisions, in the succeeding calendar year as will bring his aggregate leave for the two years to the following amounts subject to the law that the maximum period during which salary may be paid in any one year is sixty days:

(1) Not to exceed ninety days for officers at posts other than those designated as tropical or unhealthy;
(2) Not to exceed one hundred twenty days for officers at posts designated as tropical or unhealthy;
(3) Not to exceed one hundred twenty days in exceptional circumstances other than service in remote places.

In any case in which leave of absence in one calendar year is to be extended to cover continuously all or a portion of the leave for the ensuing year, the absence in the first year may be supplemented in the discretion of the Department by leave without salary in sufficient amount to cover the absence to the end of that calendar year, in order that the leave with pay in the following year may be available. Whenever leave of absence is claimed to be necessary on account of illness it is desirable that a certificate of the physician in attendance be forwarded to the Secretary of State.—R. S. Secs. 1740, 1742.

Leave of absence with permission to visit the United States is granted exclusive of the time actually and necessarily occupied in transit by the most direct route from the officer's post to his residence in the United States and return to his post. Salary for said transit period will be paid in addition to the salary for the duration of the leave of absence.—R. S. Sec. 1742; 14 Comp. Dec. 61. Salary will not be paid for more than one transit period in any one year (10 Comp. Dec. 465; 11 Comp. Dec. 123) except that when all or a part of a transit period occurs in a calendar year other than that in which the leave of absence was taken it will not impair the right of the consular officer to another transit period during that calendar year if leave should be granted.—14 Comp. Dec. 61.

If consistent with the public interest leave of absence, for good reason, may be granted for a longer time than that stipulated in the foregoing, but without compensation.—R. S. Sec. 1742; E. O. Sept. 11, 1923.

Executive Order 5128. May 27, 1929

Executive Order

Mr. Joseph B. White may be appointed to an appropriate position in the classified service without regard to the requirements of the civil service rules.

This order is recommended by the Secretary of War, who states that Mr. White, a veteran of the Spanish and World Wars, was a civilian employee of the United States military government in Cuba from 1898 to 1901, serving under General Wood, General Harbord, and General Andrews, whose letters bear witness that Mr. White's faithful and efficient services would have brought him within the operation of the Executive Order of July 3, 1902, permitting appointment to positions in the classified civil service of persons in the employ of the United States in the military government of Cuba, had his employment continued a few months longer.

Mr. White passed an examination given by the Civil Service Commission in 1924 for the position of business executive in the Veterans' Bureau but was not appointed to that position. In view of the conditions of Mr. White's employment in Cuba and his failure on account of illness to receive classification under the Executive Order of July 3, 1902, the Civil Service Commission submits the case without prejudice.

4. There is hereby constituted a Foreign Service Personnel Board composed as follows:

Three Assistant Secretaries of State to be designated by the Secretary of State, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman.

5. It shall be the duty of the Board:

(a) From time to time as vacancies arise, to submit to the Secretary of State lists of those Foreign Service Officers whose records of efficiency entitle them to advancement in the Service, and who are therefore recommended for promotion, and the names of those officers and employees in the Department of State who, after five years of continuous service, and because of special ability and merit are recommended for appointment by transfer to the position of Foreign Service Officer.

(b) To submit to the Secretary of State the names of those Foreign Service Officers who, in the opinion of the Board, have demonstrated special capacity for promotion to the grade of Minister. Each list thus submitted shall enumerate the names of the officers in the order of merit and shall be complete in itself, superseding all previous lists. A list shall be submitted to the Secretary of State whenever there is a vacancy in the grade of Minister or when requested by the President or the Secretary of State and in no case shall it contain more names than there are vacancies to fill. Each such list, if approved by the Secretary of State, shall be submitted to the President.

(c) To submit to the Secretary of State the names of those Foreign Service officers who are recommended for designation as counselors of embassy or legation.

(d) To recommend to the Secretary of State the assignment of Foreign Service Officers to posts and the transfer of such officers from one branch of the Service to the other according to the needs of the Service.

(e) To consider controversies and delinquencies among the Service personnel and recommend to the Secretary appropriate disciplinary measures where required.

6. Whenever it is determined that the efficiency rating of an officer is poor and below the required standard for the Service, the Personnel Board shall so notify the officer, and if after due notification the rating of such officer continues nevertheless to be unsatisfactory, his name shall be reported to the Secretary of State with a full recital of the circumstances and a recommendation of the Board for separation from the Service.

Whenever such recommendation for separation from the Service is made, the Board shall at the same time notify the officer of the action taken.

7. The members of the Board, individually and collectively, shall have authority to examine all records and data relating to the personnel of the Service.

8. All action taken by the Board shall be strictly non-partisan, and based exclusively upon the record of efficiency of the officers concerned.

9. The proceedings of the Board shall be strictly confidential, but the Chairman may, and it is hereby made a part of his duty, within a reasonable time prior to each meeting of the Board for recommending promotions, demotions, or removals, to invite the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs or some committee member designated by the Chairman, to sit with the Board through its deliberations without, however, participating in its decisions.

Division of Foreign Service Personnel.

10. There shall be in the Department of State a Division of Foreign Service Personnel to which shall be attached not more than three Personnel Officers, at least one of whom shall be a Foreign Service Officer of high rank, to be chosen by the Secretary of State upon the recommendation of the Personnel Board. The duties of the Division not inconsistent herewith shall be prescribed by the Secretary of State.

The Board of Examiners.

11. There is hereby constituted a Board of Examiners composed of the following members, to wit: Three Assistant Secretaries of State to be designated by the Secretary of State, one of the Personnel Officers attached to the Division of Foreign Service Personnel, and the Chief Examiner of the Civil Service Commission or such person as may be designated by him to serve in his stead. The Assistant Secretaries of State may, when necessary, designate other persons to serve for them on the Board.

12. It shall be the duty of the Board of Examiners to formulate rules for and hold examinations of applicants for commission to the Foreign Service and to determine from among the persons designated by the President for examination those who are fitted for appointment.

13. The scope and method of the examinations shall be determined by the Board of Examiners, but among the subjects shall be included the following: at least one modern language other than English (French, Spanish, or German by preference), elements of international law, geography, the natural, industrial, and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States; American history, government and institutions; the history since 1850 of Europe, Latin America and the Far East; elements of political economy, commercial and maritime law.

14. The examinations shall be both written and oral.

15. Examinations shall be rated on a scale of 100, and no person rated at less than 80 shall be eligible for certification.

16. No one shall be certified as eligible who is under twenty-one or over thirty-five years of age, or who is not a citizen of the United States, or who is not of good character and habits and physically, mentally, and temperamentally qualified for the proper performance of the duties of the Foreign Service, or who has not been specially designated by the President for appointment subject to examination and to the occurrence of an appropriate vacancy.

17. Upon the conclusion of the examinations, the names of the candidates who shall have attained upon the whole examination the required rating will be certified by the Board to the Secretary of State as eligible for appointment.

18. The names of candidates will remain on the eligible list for two years, except in the case of such candidates as shall within that period be appointed or shall withdraw their names. Names which have been on the eligible list for two years will be dropped therefrom and the candidates concerned will not again be eligible for appointment unless upon fresh application, designation anew for examination, and the successful passing of such examination.

19. Applicants for appointment who are designated to take an examination and who fail to report therefor, shall not be entitled to take a subsequent examination unless they shall have been specifically designated to take such subsequent examination.

20. In designations for appointment subject to examination and in appointments after examination, due regard will be had to the principle that as between candidates of equal merit, appointments should be made so as to tend to secure proportional representation of all the States and Territories in the foreign service; and neither in the designation for examination nor certification nor appointment after examination will the political affiliations of the candidates be considered.

21. The Board of Examiners is authorized to issue such notices and to make all such rules as it may deem necessary to accomplish the object of this regulation.

22. New appointments to the Service shall be to the grade of Foreign Service Officer, unclassified, and no promotions to a higher grade shall be made except on the recommendation of the Foreign Service Personnel Board, with the approval of the Secretary of State, after the completion of one full term of instruction, or the equivalent thereof in the Foreign Service School hereinafter established.

The Foreign Service School.

23. There is hereby established in the Department of State a Foreign Service School for the instruction of new appointees.

24. The Foreign Service School shall be under the direction of a Foreign Service School Board composed of the following members, to wit: Three Assistant Secretaries of State to be designated by the Secretary of State, one of the Personnel Officers attached to the Division of Foreign Service Personnel, and the Chief Instructor of the Foreign Service School. The School Board will act in all matters with the approval of the Secretary of State.

25. The Chief Instructor shall be selected by the other members of the School Board from among the officers of the Foreign Service, with the approval of the Secretary of State.

26. Other instructors shall be selected from among the qualified officers of the Department of State, the Foreign Service, the other executive departments of the Government, and other available sources in the discretion of the School Board.

27. The term of instruction in the Foreign Service School shall be considered a period of probation during which the new appointees are to be judged as to their qualifications for advancement and assignment to duty. At the end of the term, recommendations shall be made to the Secretary of State by the Personnel Board for the dismissal of any who may have failed to meet the required standard of the Service.

28. The Secretary of State is authorized to prescribe rules and regulations for the governance of the Foreign Service School.

Authority of the Secretary of State.

29. The Secretary of State is authorized to prescribe rules and regulations not inconsistent herewith for the administration of the Foreign Service.

Repeal.

30. The Executive Orders of June 7, 1924, and February 25, 1928, are hereby revoked.

Date on Which Foregoing Regulation Shall Become Effective.

31. This order shall take effect on September 16, 1929.

ASSIGNMENT OF FREQUENCIES TO GOVERNMENT RADIO STATIONS

Whereas Section 6 of the Radio Act of 1927 provides as follows:

"Radio stations belonging to and operated by the United States shall not be subject to the provisions of sections 1, 4, and 5 of this Act. All such Government stations shall use such frequencies or wave lengths as shall be assigned to each or to each class by the President. All such stations, except stations on board naval and other Government vessels while at sea or beyond the limits of the continental United States, when transmitting any radio communication or signal other than a communication or signal relating to Government business shall conform to such rules and regulations designed to prevent interference with other radio stations and the rights of others as the licensing authority may prescribe. Upon proclamation by the President that there exists war or a threat of war or a state of public peril or disaster or other national emergency or in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States, the President may suspend or amend, for such time as he may see fit the rules and regulations applicable to any or all stations within the jurisdiction of the United States as prescribed by the licensing authority, and may cause the closing of any station for radio communication and the removal therefrom of its apparatus and equipment, or he may authorize the use or control of any such station and/or its apparatus and equipment, by any department of the Government under such regulations as he may prescribe, upon just compensation to the owners. Radio stations on board vessels of the United States Shipping Board or the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation or the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service shall be subject to the provisions of this Act."

NOTES:

* * *The Fleet Base Stations are: Newport, New York, Norfolk, Guantanamo, Puget Sound, San Francisco, San Diego, Balboa, Pearl Harbor, Cavite.

The following Government experimental Radio Stations are authorized to use miscellaneous frequencies from time to time: Navy Department, Bellevue (NKF), Annapolis (NZO), Dahlgren (NDY), Indian Head (NBG), Quantico (NZY), San Diego (NQG), Parris Island (NAV), and Newport (NAF). Commerce Department, Bureau of Standards, (WWV).

The frequency of 4525 kilocycles and its harmonics used at Cavite #1 will be given up if it is possible to use 4017 kilocycles and its harmonics as a result of experiments now in progress.

In the allocation of these frequencies the following principles have been followed and shall be followed in the consideration of future applications for use of frequencies by Government departments:

UTILIZATION OF EXISTING COMMUNICATION FACILITIES

"No department shall erect a new station in the proximity of an existing government station, unless the same is incapable of rendering to such department the service that it requires, which shall be determined only after careful consideration by the departments concerned or by the permanent interdepartment organization. Whenever practicable, such a situation shall be met by the expansion of the existing stations, if necessary under joint contribution of the Departments interested. No department shall close a station no longer needed by it which is serving other Government departments without first making arrangements in respect to such service that are satisfactory to the departments being served."

GOVERNMENT ENCOURAGEMENT TO PRIVATE RADIO ENTERPRISES

"The Government will encourage and foster the development of privately owned and operated radio facilities in such a manner that in time of war or similar national emergency there shall be available the most effective system for the national defense. In part, this encouragement shall consist of utilizing the services of commercial stations wherever Government interests warrant in the accomplishment of the service required."

Minor changes in frequency allocations to individual stations which do not contemplate additional frequency assignments for use by Government stations may be made without further executive approval provided that such changes do not conflict with assignments made to stations of other Government departments, and are made with due regard for assignments to stations that do not belong to and are not operated by the United States.

For longer periods of detention at one place, the allowances prescribed in Table 1 will govern after the first thirty-one days.

Authorizing the Alien Property Custodian to Sell at Private Sale Certain Shares of Stock of the United States Metals Refining Co.

By virtue of the authority vested in me by an act of Congress entitled "An act to define, regulate, and punish trading with the enemy, and for other purposes," approved October 6, 1917, known as the "Trading with the enemy Act," and the amendments to such act embodied in "An act making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies in appropriations for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and prior fiscal years, on account of war expenses, and for other purposes," approved March 28, 1918, and the amendment to such act embodied in "An act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, and prior fiscal years, on account of war expenses, and for other purposes," approved November 4, 1918, and all other amendments thereto, to make certain orders such as that herein contained, I hereby, in the public interest, make the following determination, order, rule, and regulation:

> The Alien Property Custodian is hereby authorized to sell at private sale without public or other advertisement five hundred (500) shares of the preferred capital stock of the United States Metals Refining Co., of a par value of $100 per share, heretofore required to be conveyed, transferred, assigned, and delivered to the Alien Property Custodian as the property of the Nationalbank für Deutschland (now Darmstädter und Nationalbank) of Berlin, Germany, at $115 per share, a total of $57,500.

My reasons for the foregoing determination and order are:

1. That the said shares of stock are held by the Alien Property Custodian subject to the provisions of the law known as the "Settlement of the War Claims Act of 1928," which provides for the return under claim of 80 per cent of German property and the temporary withholding by the Government of an amount equal to 20 per cent thereof.

2. That the parties who are entitled to claim 80 per cent in this case have requested the Alien Property Custodian to sell the stock to the American Metal Co., Ltd., New York City, which company now owns about 90 per cent of the total issue. Liquid funds will thereby be substituted for the stock in the account.

3. That the price offered appears to represent a fair price and, in view of all the attendant circumstances, it is considered that advertisement and public sale are not necessary.

[No. 5289]

Executive Order 5290. March 5, 1930

Executive Order

Accounts and Returns of Consular Officers

The paragraphs of Article XXVII of the Consular Regulations of 1896 corresponding to the paragraph numbers hereinafter given, and as now in force, are hereby canceled and the following substituted:

536. Accounts to be rendered monthly. All accounts, except an account for a period of less than a full month when an officer has surrendered charge temporarily or is submitting a final account at an office, must be rendered at the end of each calendar month and these accounts are to be designated according to the following form: "Month ending _____ (Last day of month)" or "Partial month _____ (Date) to _____ (Date), inclusive." All accounts must be mailed or otherwise sent to the Department of State in Washington as soon as possible after the close of the accounting period to which they relate, in no case to exceed ten days. (28 Stat. L. 209; U. S. C. title 31, sec. 78.)

542. Disbursements. All disbursements, except as otherwise provided in Article XXVII of these Regulations, shall be included in a return (Form No. 294) to be transmitted by the officer in charge, accompanying the account current (Form No. 222), to the Department of State at the end of the accounting period to which it relates.

544. Postage charges. Consular officers are required to support their charges for postage by a certificate (Form No. 188) setting forth the amounts so charged on official correspondence and packages. Postage is not to be charged in the accounts of a consular officer except on correspondence and packages received and sent by him on official business and by reason of his office.

547. Clerk hire. The account of expenditures for clerks and other employees in a consular office is to be transmitted by the officer in charge to the Department of State accompanying the account current at the end of the accounting period to which it relates. The payee should acknowledge on the form provided by the Department of State (Form No. 275) the receipt of each payment.

Whoever, being charged with the payment of any appropriation made by Congress, pays to any clerk or other employee of the United States a sum less than that provided by law, and requires such employee to receipt or give a voucher for an amount greater than that actually paid to and received by him, is guilty of embezzlement, and shall be fined in double the amount so withheld from any employee of the Government and imprisoned not more than two years. (35 Stat. L. 1105; U. S. C. title 18, sec. 172.)

Other sections of the Criminal Code prohibit under penalty of fine and imprisonment the fraudulent execution, possession, transmission, or submission to the Government of the United States, or to any officer thereof, of any false document for the purpose of defrauding the United States. (35 Stat. L. 1094, 1095; U. S. C. title 18, secs. 72–75.)

550. Consular court accounts. All fees and fines, imposed and collected by consular courts, are to be used to defray the expenses of such courts and detailed accounts of receipts and expenditures must be rendered to the Secretary of State on the 30th of June each year (Form No. 216) by the officer in charge of the consulate. Any surplus remaining at the end of the fiscal year, after the expenses of the court have been paid, is to be covered into the Treasury.

The account must be supported by proper vouchers for all expenditures, and must be signed, sealed, and properly indorsed. Each case must stand by itself and show all fees and fines assessed and collected, and all disbursements made. At the end of the account should be appended a recapitulation or summary showing the total fees and fines received in each case and the total disbursements made. The balance after deducting the disbursements may be turned into the Treasury by being charged against the officer in his account current (Form No. 222) for the accounting period as "Balance from the consular court account for the fiscal year ending June 30, 19__," but such action must be accurately noted in the consular court return. If fees are insufficient to pay expenses, the balance is payable from the contingent expense appropriation.

All fees collected under the consular court regulations, all fines, and all disbursements from the consular court fund, must be entered in a separate court record and are not to be inscribed in the Record of Fees, nor are they to be included in the transcripts of such book sent to the Department of State.

As the law prescribing the use of fee stamps refers only to consular and notarial acts, and not to judicial services, fee stamps are not to be used for services performed under the laws and regulations governing the consular courts.

551. Expenses of prisons for American convicts. The account for expenses of maintaining, in countries in which American consular officers exercise judicial authority, institutions for incarcerating American convicts and persons declared insane by the United States Court for China or any consular court, is to be transmitted in accordance with the accounting periods prescribed by paragraph 536, with the necessary vouchers, when such expenses shall have been incurred, to the Department of State. This account covers the actual cost of rent of prison, prison expenses, keeping, feeding, medical attention, medicines, and transportation of prisoners, and persons declared insane by the United States Court for China or any consular court, and wages of prison keepers; and a deputy marshal and three assistant deputy marshals at Shanghai. Forms Nos. 194–195 are suitable for use in rendering this account. (28 Stat. L. 824.) No expenditures for repairs of furniture or equipment of prisons should be made without prior authority from the department.

552. Accounts relating to seamen. The returns to be made under this general account are: (1) Schedule of disbursements, relief of seamen (Form No. 94), accompanied by a statement of relief of seamen (Form No. 94a); (2) Detailed list of seamen discharged, shipped, deserted, and deceased (Form No. 124, 124a). These returns are to be rendered to the Department of State in accordance with the accounting periods prescribed by paragraph 536, provided there are transactions to report. Attention is directed to Article XV herein for information as to the items to be embraced in the account for the relief of seamen and the vouchers to sustain them. (See also pars. 224 and 292.)

554. Detailed list of seamen discharged, shipped, deserted, and deceased. This return (Form No. 124, 124a) is clearly explained by its title. Consular officers are required by section 7 of the act of June 26, 1884, to collect all arrears of wages due to seamen at the time of their discharge. (23 Stat. L. 55; U. S. C. title 46, sec. 683.) All amounts of wages which appear in this return as received by consular officers must be covered by the seamen's receipts for wages (Form No. 164, 164a), or by evidence of other lawful disposition thereof.

555. Ships' bills to be made in duplicate. All consular bills against vessels of the United States for moneys collected shall be made in duplicate and shall show each item of charge, including all moneys received for wages and extra wages, corresponding in these respects to the entries in the "Register of Shipping and Seamen." The originals of such receipts are to be delivered to the master of the vessel; and the duplicates, after being countersigned by the master, are to be sent by the consular officer as vouchers to the account for the period to which they relate. In case the signature of the master can not from any cause be obtained, the reasons therefor should be reported at the time of sending the account.

557. Detailed report of official services to American vessels and seamen. (Return made by consular agents at seaports.) This report (Form No. 168) must contain a detailed report of all the official services rendered during the period of account to which it relates and must be sworn to before an officer authorized to administer oaths.

Under the head of "Remarks" on this form the consular officer should explain opposite the name of each United States vessel for which a fee is charged "For receiving and delivering ship's register and papers," etc., the nature of the trip of the vessel, whether "running regularly by weekly or monthly trips, or otherwise," and state "the foreign port where the principal offices of the steamship company or owners are located." (23 Stat. L. 56; U. S. C. title 22, sec. 89.)

558. Salary account and certificate as to absence. The salary accounts of Foreign Service officers must be rendered in accordance with the accounting periods prescribed by paragraph 536, except when an officer's detail or assignment is altered by orders or by his going away on leave of absence.

Foreign Service officers are authorized to pay themselves from the official fees they may collect, if these are sufficient; if not, drafts may be drawn for the deficiency but not in greater amount than is actually due when the draft is drawn.

The officer in charge of a consular post is required to pay the salaries of all subordinate officers, including Foreign Service officers assigned or detailed to the office, and employees, who should receipt therefor, from the fees received at the post, if these are sufficient; if not, drafts may be drawn by the officer in charge to complete the payments.

Each account should be accompanied by a certificate as to absence, signed by the officer rendering the account, showing how many days he has been absent from his post and duty during the period covered by the account and whether by leave or otherwise, as prescribed on Form 222. (See last paragraph of par. 565.)

563. Return of fees. All consular officers, including consular agents, will make a return (Form No. 101, 101a) to the Department of State of all fees received by them, of whatsoever kind, except as otherwise provided in Article XXVII of these Regulations, during each of the accounting periods prescribed in paragraph 536, to which such fees relate.

If no fees have been received that fact must be stated on the return. Each return must be signed by the officer in charge and sworn to before some person authorized to administer oaths.

Consuls general who are also diplomatic agents or ministers to make returns of fees. Consuls general who are accredited as diplomatic agents or ministers resident should forward returns of consular fees as above required.

564. Residue of salary. When the amount received by any salaried consular officer on account of official fees during any accounting period, as prescribed in paragraph 536, shall be less than his salary for such period, he may draw on the Secretary of State for the difference at five days' sight. It must be stated on the face of the draft that it is for salary, designating the accounting period for which it is drawn. The drafts of consular officers on account of their salaries will not be honored, unless drawn in the manner prescribed. (See last paragraph of par. 565.)

565. General account current. The accounts for each period prescribed in paragraph 536 must be stated on Form No. 222.

Disposition of fees. The fees collected during each accounting period will be applied: (1) to the payment of salaries of Foreign Service officers; (2) to Contingent Expenses, United States Consulates; (3) to the Allowance for Clerk Hire at United States Consulates; (4) to the Relief and Protection of American Seamen; (5) to any other authorized account; and (6) to expenses incurred under special instructions.

If, after the payment at the close of each accounting period of the several accounts mentioned above, there shall still remain in the hands of the officer in charge a surplus, he shall remit the same to the Department of State, by draft or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States, or shall deposit it with any agent designated by the Secretary of State, taking a receipt therefor, which must accompany his next account.

When a consul general who is also diplomatic agent or minister resident shall have occasion to credit consular fees, it should be done in his account as prescribed above.

No authority can be given to a consular officer under which he can be relieved of his liability for fees or other public moneys in his possession deposited with banks or bankers, unless such deposits are made in Government depositories designated by the department. All such deposits are made at his own risk; and in the event of loss by failure of the bank, or otherwise, the consular officer must make it good, and the sureties on his official bond are liable for such loss.

Interest accruing on public moneys in charge of a consular officer belongs to the Government and must be accounted for and treated as an official receipt. (133 U. S. 273, 286.)

When expenses exceed fees. In case the fees collected should be insufficient to meet all the expenses of a consular office during any period for which an account is rendered the amount collected should be applied in the order given above until exhausted, and the total of the balances due should then be drawn for, in one draft if possible, the amount for each account being shown on the right-hand margin of the draft.

566. Neglect to report fees. It is provided by law that any consular officer of the United States who shall willfully neglect to render true and just accounts and returns of the business of his office and of moneys received by him for the use of the United States, or who shall neglect to pay over as required by law any balance of such moneys which may be due to the United States, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement of the public moneys, and shall, on conviction thereof before any court of the United States having jurisdiction of like offenses, be punished by imprisonment not exceeding five years and by a fine not exceeding $2,000, and shall be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under the United States. (R. S. sec. 1734; U. S. C. title 22, sec. 102.)

569. Accounts of consular agents. Accounts of consular agents should be rendered in accordance with the accounting periods established by paragraph 536, on the prescribed forms, to their principal officers.

Accounts for services by consular agents to American vessels and seamen will be settled at the close of the fiscal year. Amounts found due on these accounts will be remitted by Treasury warrants payable to the order of the consular agents. No payments can be made on the accounts until they have been adjusted by the Comptroller General of the United States. Consular officers to whom consular agents are responsible are forbidden to reimburse them for such services, and consular agents must not pay themselves from fees on hand for any amounts due for services to American vessels and seamen.

576. Loss and gain by exchange. Certificates or vouchers of consular officers (Form No. 92) showing loss or gain by exchange must be rendered to the Comptroller General of the United States covering all drafts sold or purchased by them and should accompany the accounts in which the drafts are included. The certificates must be signed by the consular officer and the party or parties with whom the transaction took place and embody the following facts:

(1) Date of bill of exchange (draft) sold or purchased.
(2) Amount of bill of exchange (draft):
    (a) In United States currency;
    (b) In foreign currency.
(3) Loss or gain on sale or purchase of bill of exchange (draft).
(4) Amount received or paid for bill of exchange (draft):
    (a) In United States currency;
    (b) In foreign currency.
(5) Upon whom bill of exchange (draft) is drawn or to whom remittance is made, and on what account.

When there is a gain by exchange either on drafts sold or purchased by consular officers, the amount should be credited in the account current (Form No. 222) as a miscellaneous receipt.

Paragraphs 604 and 605 of Article XXIX of the Consular Regulations of 1896, are hereby canceled and the following substituted:

604. Record books at consulate. The following record books are to be kept at consular offices:

At inland consulates—

(1) A record of fees in which shall be recorded daily in the order in which received all fees for services, including gratis services, authorized by the Tariff of United States Consular Fees, the serial number, date, and amount of each fee, the nature of the service, and the person for whom performed.
(2) A fee stamp ledger, in which shall be kept a daily record of the kinds and values of all fee stamps received and canceled, or otherwise expended.

(3) A miscellaneous record book, in which shall be kept such records as the department may from time to time direct, as well as records of all official matters pertaining to the office that require to be recorded and for which no other book is provided.
(4) A general cash book, in which shall be kept a record of official receipts and expenditures.

At seaport consulates—

In addition to the foregoing, the following record books will be kept at seaport consulates:

(1) A register of shipping and seamen.
(2) A record of American seamen relieved, in which shall be recorded the number and names of all seamen relieved, from what vessel discharged, date and cause of discharge, date of leaving the consulate, and a detailed statement of the amounts disbursed on account of each.

605. Record books at consular agencies. The following record books are required to be kept at consular agencies:

Accounts and Returns of Diplomatic Officers

Chapter XX of the "Instructions to Diplomatic Officers of the United States, March 8, 1927," is hereby canceled and the following substituted therefor:

XX—1. By whom accounts should be rendered

At missions where there are special disbursing officers, the accounts of the missions will be rendered by those officers. Accounts current of special disbursing officers will be approved by the respective chiefs of mission.

At missions where there are no special disbursing officers, the accounts of the missions will be rendered by the chiefs of mission. Foreign Service officers at such missions will render their own accounts for salaries, and for any expenditures made by them under instructions of the Department of State.

XX—2. Accounts to be rendered monthly

All accounts will be rendered at the end of each calendar month according to the following form, "Month ending _____ (Last day of month)," except that accounts rendered for periods of less than a full month by a diplomatic officer surrendering charge temporarily or submitting final accounts will be submitted as follows: "Partial month ---------- (Date) to ---------- (Date), inclusive." All accounts will be mailed or otherwise sent to the Department of State in Washington as soon as possible after the close of the accounting period to which they relate, in no case to exceed ten days. (28 Stat. 209; U. S. C. title 31, sec. 78.)

XX—3. Disbursements

All disbursements, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, will be included in a return (Standard Form No. 1025), to be transmitted by the chief of mission, with the account current (Form No. 191—Diplomatic) to the Department of State, at the end of the accounting period to which it relates.

All disbursements made by special disbursing officers at missions will be included in returns (Form No. 294), to be transmitted by them, with Standard Form No. 1021 or No. 1022, through the respective chiefs of mission to the Department of State, at the end of the accounting period to which they relate.

XX—4. General account current

The accounts for each period prescribed in Chapter XX–2 will be stated on Form No. 191—Diplomatic, if rendered by the chief of mission, and on Standard Form No. 1021 or 1022 if rendered by a special disbursing officer.

XX—5. General accounts

Diplomatic officers are required to keep separate general accounts of all public or other moneys coming into their possession in their official capacity from any source and for any purpose whatever and to render accounts of the same, in such manner, on such forms, and at such times as may be prescribed by the Comptroller General of the United States or the Department of State.

Diplomatic officers will keep a general cash book and such other account books as may be required according to the needs of their missions, to show all details of receipts and expenditures, to ensure accuracy and to enable responsible officers to exercise complete control over the funds of the missions.

XX—6. Special accounts

Any account for any purpose opened by request of any department or establishment of the Government will be kept separately, and a separate return will be made thereof for transmission by the Department of State to the interested department or establishment. Request for the opening of any such account will be made through the Department of State. Expenses incurred for any other department or establishment of the Government will not be included in any account against the Department of State unless specifically authorized. The amount of such expenses will be taken up in the regular account current at the periods prescribed in Chapter XX–2 under the appropriation or fund from which payment is made and on the line indicated in the account current.

Expenditures made in connection with other special accounts, against which separate drafts are drawn, will be taken up in a separate account current and will not be included in the regular accounts of the missions.

In no case will a separate account be rendered, or a separate draft drawn, unless specifically authorized by the Department of State.

XX—7. Accounts not to cover different fiscal years

No account, except for travel, may embrace time or transactions belonging to different fiscal years. Appropriations and adjustments are confined to the fiscal years ending June 30, and when an expenditure for any purpose, except for travel, extends from one fiscal year into another, two accounts will be rendered.

XX—8. Accounts to be stated in currency of the United States

All accounts of diplomatic officers will be stated in the currency of the United States; and all drafts on the Secretary of State will be drawn in the money of the United States, not in the foreign money of the officers' accounts. In all cases where the disbursements are actually made in foreign currency the vouchers themselves should be taken and rendered in the same currency in which the disbursements are made. Satisfactory evidence should accompany the account as to the correct valuation of the foreign currency in currency of the United States in the form of a certificate of a responsible banker or of a diplomatic officer based on authentic quotations.

XX—9. Salary account and certificate as to absence

The salary accounts of diplomatic officers will be rendered in accordance with the accounting periods prescribed in Chapter XX–2.

At missions where there are no disbursing officers (second paragraph of XX–1), diplomatic officers will obtain funds for salaries, as well as for contingent and other expenses, by drafts on the Secretary of State, drawn at five days after sight. Such drafts will show, on the lines indicated thereon, whether for salary, contingent expenses, clerk hire, et cetera, and the accounting period covered. Drafts will not be honored unless drawn in the manner prescribed.

Diplomatic officers will not carry in their accounts balances due them on account of salary.

At missions where there are disbursing officers (first paragraph of XX–1), those officers will pay the salaries of all diplomatic officers, clerks, and subordinate employees.

Each account will include a certificate as to absence, signed by the ambassador or minister, showing how many days he was absent from the mission and duty during the period covered by the account, and whether by leave or otherwise, as prescribed on the reverse side of Form No. 191—Diplomatic.

If the account includes or covers a period during which a chargé d'affaires ad interim was the principal officer, he will sign the appropriate certificate on the form mentioned, showing the period that he was in charge of the mission and including the required statement as to his absence.

XX—10. Telegraph charges

Accounts for charges for telegrams will be accompanied by:

(a) Copies of the transmitted texts of all telegrams and the original receipts from the telegraph companies for payments made. When the vouchers are for telegrams in the department cipher, the receipts and the copies of telegrams will be endorsed "Foreign Intercourse," and initialed by the responsible officer.

(b) A "Schedule of Telegrams and Cablegrams, Foreign Service" (Form No. 250), showing the date, number, addressee, destination, number of words, rate per word in foreign currency, and the equivalent in currency of the United States of each message sent during the period covered by the account.

Copies of telegrams sent in commercial codes will not be endorsed as above but will be accompanied by translations.

Charges for telegrams of a personal nature will not be approved.

XX—11. Postage charges

Diplomatic officers are required to support their charges for postage by Form No. 243b, Daily Postage Memorandum, and Form No. 188, Certificate to Support Postage Charge, setting forth the amount so charged on official correspondence and packages. Postage is not to be charged in the accounts of a diplomatic officer except on despatches, letters, and packages received and sent by him on official business and by reason of his office.

XX—12. Settlement of final account

The Comptroller General of the United States disapproves the procedure of officers drawing drafts for settlement of final accounts. Diplomatic officers will therefore draw no drafts for final accounts but submit such accounts to the Department of State for approval and audit and await receipt of a warrant from the Treasury for the amount found due by the Comptroller General.

XX—13. Duplicate accounts to be transmitted

All accounts will be transmitted to the Secretary of State in duplicate.

XX—14. Indorsement of accounts and returns

The information called for on the reverse side of the forms of accounts and returns will always be given in full.

XX—15. Clerk hire

The account of expenditures for clerks and other employees at a mission will be included in the account current at the end of the accounting period to which the account relates. Each payment will be acknowledged by the payee on Form No. 275, unless paid by a special disbursing officer, when the date and number of the check will be given.

Whoever, being charged with the payment of any appropriation made by Congress, pays to any clerk or other employee of the United States a sum less than that provided by law and requires such employee to receipt or give a voucher for an amount greater than actually paid to and received by him, is guilty of embezzlement, and shall be fined in double the amount so withheld from any employee of the Government, and imprisoned not more than two years. (35 Stat. 1105; U. S. C. title 18, sec. 172.)

Other sections of the Criminal Code prohibit under penalty of fine and imprisonment the fraudulent execution, possession, transmission, or submission to the Government of the United States, or to any officer thereof, of any false document for the purpose of defrauding the United States. (35 Stat. 1094, 1095; U. S. C. title 18, secs. 72–75.)

XX—16. Diplomatic officers not to accept voluntary service

It is provided by statute that no department or officer of the Government shall accept voluntary service for the Government nor employ personal service in excess of that authorized by law, except in cases of sudden emergency involving the loss of human life, or the destruction of property. (R. S. 3679, amended March 3, 1905, and February 27, 1906.)

XX—17. Transportation and subsistence

The actual and necessary expenses for the transportation, and the actual and necessary subsistence or per diem in lieu of subsistence, of diplomatic officers, Foreign Service officers, and clerks at missions while traveling under orders of the Secretary of State, expenses for transportation and subsistence of their families and for the transportation of their effects, are paid by the Government under the statutes, rules, and travel regulations applying thereto.

XX—18. Furniture, official supplies, et cetera

Before incurring expense for furniture, diplomatic officers will in all cases obtain the sanction of the Department of State; and in their applications they will be careful to state the articles required and the estimated cost of each.

Official supplies are furnished by the department upon requisition. Necessary expenditures for articles not supplied by the department, or articles required in an emergency, are proper charges against the Government, within the allotments made.

Envelopes are an exception and may not be purchased in the open market. (Comp. Gen. No. A–15999 February 24, 1927.)

XX—19. Vouchers required

A proper voucher will be furnished for every disbursement. Each voucher will show on its face the kind of currency in which paid, and if paid in foreign currency it will show the amount reduced to its equivalent in the standard currency of the United States and the rate at which the reduction is made. Vouchers will be in the English language or accompanied by a translation. They will show exactly for what the disbursement was made, and will be numbered in the order in which paid, and referred to in the corresponding account (Form No. 1025) by number. Expenditures covered by vouchers in a foreign language not accompanied by translations will be suspended by the accounting officers. Original vouchers will be furnished in all cases.

All vouchers for moneys expended for any official purpose whatever must represent the amount actually and necessarily paid for the purposes specified, to the exclusion of any pecuniary or material benefit directly or indirectly accruing to the officer making the expenditure and accounting therefor or to any person other than the one signing the receipt. (35 Stat. 1094, sec. 29; 35 Stat. 1095, sec. 35; 35 Stat. 1105, sec. 86.)

XX—20. Return of fees

A return (Forms No. 101, 101a) will be made to the Department of State of all fees received during each of the accounting periods prescribed in Chapter XX–2 to which the fees relate.

If no fees were received, it will be so stated on the return. Each return will be signed by the chief of mission and sworn to before a person authorized to administer oaths.

XX—21. Disposition of fees

Fees collected during each accounting period will be applied as follows:

(a) To Contingent Expenses Foreign Missions.
(b) To any other authorized account.

If, after the payment at the close of each accounting period (prescribed in Ch. XX–2) of the accounts referred to above there is a surplus in the hands of the responsible officer, he will remit it to the Department of State by draft or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States or deposit it with any agent designated by the Secretary of State, taking a receipt therefor, which will accompany his next account.

An officer of the Government can not be relieved of his liability for fees or other public moneys in his possession deposited with banks or bankers, unless such deposits are made in depositories designated by the Department of State. All deposits except in such depositories are made at his own risk; and in case of loss by failure of the bank, or otherwise, the responsible officer will be held accountable for the amount lost.

Interest accruing on public moneys in charge of an officer of the Government belongs to the Government and must be accounted for and treated as an official receipt (133 U. S. 273, 286).

XX—22. Neglect to report fees

Any responsible officer who shall wilfully neglect to render true and just accounts and returns of the business of his office and of moneys received by him for the use of the United States, or who shall neglect to pay over as required by law any balance of such moneys which may be due to the United States shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement of the public moneys, and shall, on conviction thereof before any court of the United States having jurisdiction of like offenses, be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years and by a fine not exceeding $2,000, and shall be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under the United States. (R. S. sec. 1734; U. S. C. title 22, sec. 102.)

XX—23. Drawing and negotiating drafts

Drafts will be drawn only by duly qualified diplomatic or Foreign Service officers, and will be made only in the currency of the United States. Drafts should be negotiated at the most favorable rates, and each negotiation will show, by Form No. 92, any loss or gain.

Drafts will show in the right-hand margins the purpose for which drawn, and the appropriation to which the amount is chargeable. Drafts will not be drawn for one purpose and the proceeds used for another. Drafts for expenses authorized by special instruction will refer explicitly to the number, date, and file number of the instruction. The same reference will appear in the corresponding account.

To prevent the dishonor of drafts, the form prescribed by the Department of State will be used.

XX—24. Indorsement by procuration

Drafts presented at the Department of State for payment upon the indorsement not of the persons to whom the drafts are payable but upon the indorsements of persons claiming to act by procuration, will be paid only upon satisfactory proof of the sufficiency of such indorsements.

XX—25. On whom drafts are to be drawn

Drafts on the Secretary of State will be drawn at five days after sight, acceptance waived and indorsements by procuration excepted.

Drafts will not be drawn to the order of individuals for payment of salaries or for any expenses.

XX—26. Payments of drafts and advance of public money

The payment of drafts of diplomatic and Foreign Service officers will be considered as an advance of public money for which those officers will be held accountable under their official bonds, and will not be considered as a payment or settlement on account.

XX—27. Drafts to be filled out in officers' handwriting

The blanks in the engraved draft forms furnished by the Department of State will be filled in by the drawer of a draft, in his own handwriting. The seal of the mission will be affixed to the draft, thus affording further protection against forgery and fraudulent payment.

XX—28. Loss and gain by exchange

Certificates or vouchers (Form No. 92) showing loss or gain by exchange on drafts sold or purchased by diplomatic officers will be rendered to the Comptroller General of the United States with the accounts in which the drafts are included, and will be signed by the diplomatic officers and the other parties to the transactions and embody the following facts:

(a) Date of bill of exchange (draft);
(b) Amount of bill of exchange—
  (1) In United States currency,
  (2) In foreign currency;
(c) Loss or gain on transaction;
(d) Amount received or paid—
  (1) In United States currency,
  (2) In foreign currency;
(e) Upon whom bill of exchange is drawn or to whom remittance is made, and on what account.

Any gain by exchange on drafts sold or purchased should be credited in the account current (Form No. 191—Diplomatic) as a miscellaneous receipt.

Any loss by exchange will be charged to the appropriation Contingent Expenses Foreign Missions, and taken up on the account current in the total for other expenditures charged to that appropriation.

This Executive order shall become effective on July 1, 1930.

Appointment of H. Charles Spruks

H. Charles Spruks may be appointed to a classified position in the Department of State without compliance with the civil service rules.

This order is recommended by the Acting Secretary of State because of Mr. Spruks's unique experience in visa work at two of the most difficult posts in the American Foreign Service which qualifies him as an expert in visa matters. Mr. Spruks was appointed a Foreign Service officer, unclassified, February 5, 1927, after having passed the Foreign Service examination and was immediately assigned to the consulate general at Habana, Cuba, for visa work. After approximately one year's service at Habana Mr. Spruks was detailed to the Department of State for duty in the Foreign Service School, and while serving in this capacity he completed an intensive course of training in visa work with the highest rating in a class of thirty-five. On June 29, 1928, he was assigned to the consulate general at Warsaw, Poland, and placed in charge of visa work, in which capacity he remained until March 9, 1929, when he resigned from the Foreign Service because of urgent family and business reasons requiring his presence in the United States.

Amendments to Consular Regulations

For the purpose of bringing the Consular Regulations of 1896 into conformity with simplified administrative methods and of securing uniformity of style, the following amendments are ordered:

1. Wherever the word "paragraph," its plural, or abbreviation thereof, is used in any part of the Consular Regulations to indicate a numbered section of the Regulations as established by Executive order, the word "section," its plural, or abbreviation thereof, is substituted.

2. In view of the provisions of Executive Order No. 5290, of March 5, 1930, establishing a system of monthly accounts and returns for all consular officers, the words "quarter" or "quarterly," wherever they occur in the Consular Regulations with respect to accounts and returns of consular officers, are changed effective July 1, 1930, to "month" or "monthly."

3. Sections 179 and 180 of the Consular Regulations are amended to read as follows:

179. Papers to be safely kept. When ship's papers are received, they are to be kept together in as safe a place as possible, to guard against fire and other accidents; and, if requested by the master of any vessel, the consular officer receiving such papers shall give a receipt therefor (Form No. 13), and make an entry in his consular records, specifying the time of delivery, the name of the vessel, the master, and the character of the papers deposited.

180. When consular officer may return papers. Whenever the master shall produce the clearance of his vessel from the proper officer of the port and shall comply with the provisions of law relating to the discharge of seamen in a foreign country, and shall pay to the consular officer the arrears of wages and the extra wages that may be due for every seaman discharged at his port, and such fees as are collectable, under the law and these Regulations, and shall pay all other demands, on account of the vessel, of which cognizance is given to consular officers, then he shall be entitled to the return of all the ship's papers deposited with the consular officer. The receipt (Form No. 13), when issued as provided in section 179, will be permanently retained by the master, but the date and hour of the return of the ship's papers will always be recorded on Form No. 281a, by the responsible consular officer. Until all these provisions of law are complied with, the consular officer should retain the papers, although the clearance may be regular and in due form. Consular officers have no authority to withhold a ship's papers to compel the payment or settlement of demands against the vessel by parties whose claims do not come within any of the classes of debts or demands which they are authorized to enforce by law or by the Consular Regulations.

(R. S. secs. 1718, 4309; U. S. C. title 22, sec. 88, and title 46, sec. 354; 9 Op. Att. Gen. 384.)

4. Item 16 of the Tariff of United States Consular Fees is amended by deleting the words "including consular certificates, as prescribed in Forms Nos. 13 and 14."

Regulations Governing Representation Allowances

In pursuance of the authorization contained in section 12 of the act of May 24, 1924 (43 Stat. 142), which provides

"That the President is hereby authorized to grant to diplomatic missions and to consular offices at capitals of countries where there is no diplomatic mission of the United States representation allowances out of any money which may be appropriated for such purpose from time to time by Congress, the expenditure of such representation allowance to be accounted for in detail to the Department of State quarterly under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe."

the following regulations are hereby prescribed.

Purposes of Representation Allowances

The purposes for which representation allowances are granted, are the assistance in the establishment and maintenance of official contacts, the upholding of the prestige of the United States in the communities in which its representatives are stationed, and the furthering of its interests abroad in the ways recognized as customary in various parts of the world.

Scope of Representation Allowances

Representation allowances are considered to include the following items:

1. Receptions on American national holidays.

2. Functions, formal or informal, such as receptions, dinners, and luncheons given upon special occasions such as the usual official receptions incident to visits of U. S. naval vessels, of special commissions, or upon some important happening, providing the means of reciprocating official courtesies received, either at a representative's home or at public places.

3. Tips and gratuities in accordance with custom in the various countries where such gratuities are, in the opinion of the representative, necessary or desirable for the maintenance of the prestige of the United States.

4. Purchases of flowers, wreaths, etc., upon appropriate occasions such as weddings, births, and deaths of important personages.

5. Expenses for entertainment of other kinds than that provided for in paragraphs 1 and 2 when considered reasonable and desirable by the Secretary of State, provided that such expenses are shown to be for activities of representative importance.

6. Any other expenses which in the discretion of the Secretary of State are of a character to promote the representation of the United States abroad.

APPORTIONMENT OF ALLOWANCES

The Secretary of State is hereby authorized to make such allowances within the amount appropriated from year to year to any or all diplomatic offices and to any or all consular offices designated below, as he may deem desirable to accomplish the purposes for which representation allowances are granted.

The following places are hereby designated as capitals of countries, within the meaning of the act of May 24, 1924, where there are no diplomatic missions. Consular offices at these places may be granted representation allowances.

ACCOUNTING

Representation allowances are granted to the offices determined by the Secretary of State, to be administered personally by the official in charge of such office. Detailed accounts shall be submitted monthly as to the expenditures made and the purposes for which they were made. Supporting vouchers shall be supplied in all cases for expenditures over $5 made under paragraphs 1, 2, 4, and 5 of the section of this order entitled "Scope of Representation Allowances." A specific exception to this requirement is made under paragraph 2, where a function takes place at a representative's home. Vouchers need be submitted in this case only where a caterer or similar purveyor is called upon. In other cases, an officer's certificate as to expenditures made in this connection will be sufficient. In all cases of receptions, dinners, and other entertainment, sufficient information should be included in the account to show the total cost per capita, which shall constitute sufficient detail for accounting purposes.

With regard to expenditures under paragraphs 3 and 6 of the section mentioned above, the amounts expended shall be supported by certificates of the officer in charge, except that where any expenditure exceeds $15, a supporting voucher must be obtained.

The amount granted to any one office should normally be divided into four equal parts, to be availed of to that extent every three months. This will permit an expenditure of more than one-twelfth of the fund in any one mouth, but will nevertheless prevent a too early exhaustion of the fund. If more than one-fourth is spent in any three months, an explanation should accompany the account for such excess expenditure.

Due to express provisions of law, representation allowances may not be used for expenses in connection with any of the following objects:

1. Hire, purchase, operation, maintenance, or repair of any motor-propelled passenger-carrying vehicles.

2. Club or association dues.
3. Printing or engraving expenses.
4. Purchase of alcoholic beverages.

According to law, competitive bids must be obtained for all expenditures in excess of $100, except where it is manifestly impossible to obtain such bids, when the circumstances rendering the submission of such bids impossible must be completely set forth.

The utmost care shall be exercised in the submission of the accounts for this fund, under the provisions of this order. The character of the appropriation is such that it is incumbent upon each officer in the field who has charge of the expenditure of this appropriation to make certain that the items for which he spends the money are amply justified.

Executive Order

Documents Required of Aliens Entering the United States

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the act of Congress approved May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559), entitled "An act to prevent in time of war departure from or entry into the United States contrary to the public safety," as extended by the act of Congress of March 2, 1921 (41 Stat. 1205), entitled "An act making appropriations for the Diplomatic and Consular Service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922," and with reference to the act of Congress of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 153), as amended, known as the "Immigration Act of 1924," I hereby prescribe the following regulations governing the entry of aliens into the United States. (In addition to the general immigration laws and regulations, there are special laws and regulations governing the admission of Chinese.)

I

Immigrants

Immigrants must present immigration visas, quota or nonquota, in accordance with the requirements of the Immigration Act of 1924, except—

(1) Children born subsequent to the issuance of the immigration visa of the accompanying parent. (Sec. 13(a) (1), Immigration Act of 1924.) Such children are not required to present documents of any kind.

(2) Aliens who have previously been admitted legally into the United States, have departed therefrom and returned within six months, not having proceeded to countries other than Canada, Newfoundland, St. Pierre, Miquelon, Bermuda, Mexico, Cuba, and other islands included in the Bahama and Greater Antilles groups, are not required to present passports, visas, or permits to reenter.

(3) Aliens, other than those specified in (2) above, who have previously been admitted legally into the United States, have departed therefrom, and are returning from a temporary visit abroad, may present, in lieu of immigration visas, permits to reenter, issued pursuant to section 10 of the Immigration Act of 1924.

With reference to section 28(c) of the Immigration Act of 1924, the Executive Secretary of the Panama Canal, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, is hereby authorized to issue immigration visas to aliens coming to the United States from the Canal Zone; the Collector of Customs of the Philippine Islands is hereby authorized to issue immigration visas to aliens coming to the United States from the Philippine Islands; the Governor of American Samoa is hereby authorized to issue immigration visas to aliens coming to the United States from American Samoa; and the Governor of Guam is hereby authorized to issue immigration visas to aliens coming to the United States from Guam.

II

Nonimmigrants

With the exceptions hereinafter specified, nonimmigrants must present passports or official documents in the nature of passports issued by the governments of the countries to which they owe allegiance, duly visaed by consular officers of the United States; Provided, however, That no passport visa or transit certificate to enter the United States or the Philippine Islands shall be granted to such an alien if such entry would be contrary to the public safety.

Exceptions

(1) Persons in transit through the United States or the Philippine Islands to a foreign destination. They may present transit certificates according to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of State.

(2) Aliens who are through passengers on vessels touching at ports of the United States. In this connection the term "United States" is to be construed as in section 1 of the Immigration Act of 1917. They may land temporarily, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, without documents of any kind.

(3) Passports may include any person or persons whose inclusion is proper under the regulations of the issuing government and whose photographs are attached thereto.

(4) Citizens of St. Pierre and Miquelon and French citizens domiciled therein; citizens of Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, and British possessions in the Greater Antilles, and British subjects domiciled therein; citizens of Panama, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, and the Dominican Republic. Such persons may pass in transit through the United States, or enter the United States temporarily, without passports, visas, or transit certificates.

(5) Seamen. Masters of vessels of all nationalities sailing for a port of the United States must submit for visa a list of all the alien members of the vessel's crew to the American consular officer at the port from which the vessel commences its voyage. If there is no American consular officer stationed at that port, the crew list should be submitted at the first port of call (if the vessel touches at any other port) where an American consular officer is located. This does not refer to consular agents, who are not authorized to visa crew lists. However, this paragraph has no application to members of crews of vessels sailing between ports of the United States and ports of Canada, Newfoundland, St. Pierre, and Miquelon and not touching at ports of other countries. Such persons are NOT required to be documented.

When a vessel sails from a port where no American consul is stationed, but which is within a few hours reach by mail of an American consulate, so that unreasonable delay and serious loss would not result from referring the crew list to such consulate, it should be referred thereto for visa.

The visa of a shipping commissioner in the Canal Zone shall be accepted as equivalent to the visa of an American consul.

If an alien seaman whose name is not included in a visaed crew list arrives at a port of the United States he shall not be allowed to land except upon the permission of the Secretary of State.

(6) Aliens making round-trip cruises from American ports without transshipment from the original vessel to another one while en route, provided the original contract for passage calls for transportation from an American port to the ports included in the cruise, and return to either the original or another American port, require no visas for reentry into the United States.

(7) Aliens of no nationality, and those who, when they apply for visas, are outside of the territories of the countries to which they owe allegiance and who, for any reason, are unable to obtain passports or documents in the nature of passports issued by the governments of such countries, and aliens bearing passports issued by governments not recognized by the United States. They may enter the United States with documents showing their origin and identity, visaed by consuls, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of State.

24-519 O - 74 - vol. I - 43

(8) In cases of emergency the Secretary of State is authorized in his discretion to waive passport and visa requirements for aliens who are non-immigrants as defined in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, and who apply for admission at a port of entry of the United States.

III

(1) Aliens entering the Philippine Islands, except those referred to in II(1) and II(2), must present passports or documents in the nature of passports, duly visaed by consular officers of the United States; but seamen on vessels of all nationalities touching at a port of the Philippine Islands are not required to be documented. Masters of such vessels are, therefore, not required to present visaed crew lists.

(2) Aliens entering any other American possessions not included under section 28(a) of the Immigration Act of 1924, do not require documents of any kind.

The definition contained in section 28 of the Immigration Act of 1924 shall be regarded as applicable to this order, except as herein otherwise specified.

The Secretary of State and the Secretary of Labor are hereby authorized to make such additional rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this order, as may be deemed necessary for carrying out the provisions of this order and the statutes mentioned herein.

This order shall take effect immediately and shall supersede the Executive Order No. 4813 of February 21, 1928, entitled "Documents Required of Aliens Entering the United States," but shall not supersede Executive Order No. 4049 of July 14, 1924, entitled "Documents required of Aliens entering the United States on Airships," Executive Order No. 4648 of May 13, 1927, entitled "Documents Required of Bona Fide Alien Seamen Entering the United States as Passengers," or Executive Order No. 4690 of July 11, 1927, relative to Article XXII of the Consular Regulations of 1896.

Waiver or Reduction of Application and Visa Fees for Nonimmigrants

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the act of Congress approved February 25, 1925 (43 Stat. 976), entitled "An act to authorize the President in certain cases to modify visé fees," I hereby prescribe the following regulations governing the fees to be required of aliens who are not immigrants as defined in the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 153), as amended, and who are citizens or subjects of countries making similar concessions to citizens of the United States.

The Secretary of State is hereby authorized to conclude an agreement, by exchange of notes, with any foreign country whereby citizens or subjects of such country who are not immigrants as defined in the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, may receive passport visas for visiting the United States without payment of the application and visa fees prescribed in the act of June 4, 1920 (41 Stat. 750), or upon payment of a reduced fee, in consideration of a waiver of visas or visa fees or reduction of fees being made for citizens of the United States of a similar class visiting such other country. Upon the conclusion of any such agreement the fee charges specified therein shall become effective, when and as provided therein, as if specifically stated in this order.

In cases where the Secretary of State has not been able to negotiate such an agreement by exchange of notes, he is hereby authorized, to the extent consistent with the public interest, to issue regulations reducing the fees prescribed in the act of June 4, 1920, to be collected for passport visas and applications therefor, or abolishing them altogether, in the case of any class of aliens desiring to visit the United States who are not immigrants as defined in the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, and who are citizens or subjects of a country which grants similar privileges to citizens of the United States of a similar class visiting such country. Upon the issuance of any such regulations the fee charges specified therein shall become effective, when and as provided therein, as if specifically stated in this order and shall remain effective until the foreign country increases its corresponding fees charged citizens of the United States.

This order shall take effect immediately and shall supersede the Executive Order No. 4224½ of May 15, 1925.

Amendment to Instructions to Diplomatic Officers

Inventory of Property

For the purpose of bringing the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers of the United States into conformity with simplified administrative methods and of obtaining uniformity of style, Section XVII–2 of the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers is hereby amended to read as follows:

XVII–2. Inventory of Government property.

Every diplomatic representative shall keep on record in the mission a detailed inventory of all Government property in his custody.

An inventory must be submitted to the department by the officer in charge only upon the establishment of a new diplomatic mission and upon instructions from the department.

The inventory must be prepared with the typewriter, on cards provided by the department, in five sections designated respectively: "Office Furniture and Equipment"; "Reference Books"; "Record Books and Archives"; "Codes and Insignia"; and "Household Furniture and Furnishings." Each card shall bear the initials or signature of the officer in charge at the time of its preparation, and the continuing responsibility for the items composing the inventory shall thereafter reside in an inventory transfer form which shall be prepared upon the delivery of the official property, either in the event of the transfer of the officer in charge or of his departure on or return from home leave of absence (but not in the case of simple leave). A complete card-index inventory will be maintained in each office, and a complete card-index inventory of every office in the Foreign Service will be kept in the department.

Upon the transfer of the officer in charge, or upon his departure on or return from home leave of absence (but not on simple leave), the inventory shall be carefully checked by the incoming officer and the outgoing officer, and the inventory transfer form shall be duly executed, signed by the officer receiving the property, and transmitted to the department.

Amendments to Consular Regulations

Inventory of Property

For the purpose of bringing the Consular Regulations of 1896 into conformity with simplified administrative methods and of obtaining uniformity of style, sections 57, 59, 60, 65, 431, 432, 433, and 433½ of the Consular Regulations are hereby amended to read as follows:

57. Delivery of archives and inventory. Upon the receipt of the exequatur, or permission to act, the consular officer will apply to the person having charge of the consular seals and public property of the office for their delivery to him; and, having checked jointly with his predecessor or the subordinate in charge, if either be present, the inventory of the books and other effects, he will transmit a certificate of transfer of office (Form No. 5) signed by himself and his predecessor or the subordinate officer, or, in their absence, by himself alone, to the Department of State. He will also transmit an inventory transfer form upon which he will acknowledge the receipt of the official property delivered to him.

59. Inventory, how made. A new inventory should not be prepared at the time of assuming charge of the official property of the office, but the existing inventory should be carefully checked with the actual property on hand. The condition of the inventory will thereupon immediately be brought to the attention of the department on a prescribed form (inventory transfer form) together with such additions to the inventory, in appropriate form, as may be necessary. Permission for deletions from the inventory must have the department's advance approval.

60. Inventory of consular agency. Upon the appointment of a consular agent, the inventory of all property at the agency belonging to the United States should be checked, in the manner prescribed for consuls, by the incoming and outgoing officers, and a certificate prepared on the prescribed form (inventory transfer form), showing the date of delivery and the condition of the inventory. This certificate should be sent to the principal officer, to be by him communicated to the Department of State.

65. Report regarding office. Consular officers are required, at the earliest opportunity, to prepare and forward to the Department of State a brief report in relation to the offices occupied by them. This report must embrace the following particulars:

1. Give the street and number of the premises, stating whether they are in a residential or business quarter of the town. State whether the offices are separate and self-contained, or whether office or desk room only is occupied in the officer's residence or in premises used for other business purposes. State the actual rental and to whom and how paid. Scrupulous exactness is enjoined in reporting the circumstances under which the offices are rented.

2. Give the number, size, arrangement, and employment of the rooms devoted to the public business. A diagram will probably be the most convenient mode of showing these particulars, and its utility will be enhanced if it shows the means of access from the street and the window lighting, whether on the street or on internal courts or wells.

3. State the manner in which the offices are protected when not open for business, whether by a janitor or porter in charge of the building or by the residence on the premises of any official dependent whose wages are paid by the Department of State. In the latter case, state the accommodations assigned to such dependent.

It is expected that any change in the official quarters will be reported in detail.

431. Inventory required. Every consular officer in charge of an office shall keep on record in the office and furnish the department with a detailed inventory of all. Government property in his custody, including record books and archives.

An inventory must be submitted to the department by the officer in charge, upon the establishment of a new consular office and upon instructions from the department. A retiring consular officer will not be given a certificate of nonindebtedness to the Government until the provisions of the regulations respecting inventories have been fully complied with. No Government property shall be disposed of or removed from the inventory without authorization, in advance, of the department. The penal code of the United States (35 Stat. 1112) provides: "Whoever, having the custody of any record, proceeding, map, book, document, paper or other thing specified in the preceding section [the preceding section of the statute specifies any such things which may be 'in any public office'], shall willfully and unlawfully conceal, remove, mutilate, obliterate, falsify, or destroy any such record, proceeding, map, book, document, paper, or thing, shall be fined not more than two thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than three years, or both; and shall moreover forfeit his office and be forever afterward disqualified from holding any office under the Government of the United States."

432. Preparation and recording of inventory. The inventory must be prepared with the typewriter, on cards provided by the department, in five sections designated respectively: "Office Furniture and Equipment"; "Reference Books"; "Record Books and Archives"; "Codes and Insignia"; and "Household Furniture and Furnishings." Each card shall bear the initials or signature of the officer in charge at the time of its preparation, and the continuing responsibility for the items composing the inventory shall thereafter reside in the inventory transfer form which shall be prepared upon the delivery of the official property, either in the event of the transfer of the principal officer or of his departure on or return from home leave of absence (but not in the case of simple leave). A complete card-index inventory will be maintained in each office, and a complete card-index inventory of every office in the Foreign Service will be kept in the department.

433. Inventory at transfer of office. Upon the transfer of the officer in charge of a consulate, or upon his departure on or return from home leave of absence (but not on simple leave), the inventory shall be carefully checked by the incoming officer and the outgoing officer, or the subordinate in charge, and the inventory transfer form shall be duly executed, signed by the officer receiving the property, and transmitted to the department. Rectification of any discrepancies which may be found should be effected as provided in section 59.

433½. Supplementary inventory. Canceled.

Rules Governing the Dispensation of Narcotic Drugs in the Virgin Islands

WHEREAS the act of Congress approved January 22, 1927 (44 Stat. 1023), provides as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section 2 of the Narcotic Act of Congress, approved December 17, 1914, as amended, be further amended as follows:

Sec. 2. After the last sentence of section 2 add the following: "The President is further authorized and directed to issue such Executive orders as will permit those persons in the Virgin Islands of the United States lawfully entitled to sell, deal in, dispense, prescribe, and distribute the aforesaid drugs, to obtain said drugs from persons registered under this Act within the continental United States for legitimate medical purposes, without regard to the order forms described in this section."

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by the above-quoted provision of the said act of Congress, it is hereby ordered:

1. That any person lawfully entitled to sell, deal in, dispense, prescribe, or distribute opium or coca leaves, or any compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, or preparation thereof, in the Virgin Islands of the United States, may obtain such narcotics as shall be necessary for legitimate medical purposes within those islands by executing a written order therefor upon a duly qualified importer, manufacturer, producer, compounder, or dealer in such drugs located in the continental United States: Provided, That such order has been first submitted to the Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands and bears upon its face the approval of said Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands, the official seal of the government of the Virgin Islands, and the date of such approval.

2. Upon receipt of the order for narcotic drugs from the person in the Virgin Islands ordering such drugs, the Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands, if he finds that such person is qualified in accordance with the terms of the preceding section, and if he is satisfied that such person is ordering the drugs for legitimate medical purposes only, shall approve the order form by signing a suitable notation on the face thereof, including the date of such approval, and impress the seal of the government of the Virgin Islands thereon, and return same to the person from whom it was received, who may then transmit the approved order to the appropriate prospective vendor in the continental United States, who is hereby authorized to furnish and ship the drugs called for in the said order in the same manner and to the same extent that he would be authorized if the order were properly executed on an official order form submitted by a duly qualified dealer or practitioner in the continental United States under section 2 of the act of December 17, 1914 (38 Stat. 786), as amended.

3. No order as above described shall be filled by any importer, manufacturer, producer, compounder, or dealer in the continental United States if received after two months from the date of approval described in the preceding section. If, for any reason, an approved order is not forwarded to the person in the continental United States from whom the drug is to be ordered in time to reach such person on or before the expiration of a period of two months after the date of approval, such order shall be returned to the Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands for cancellation. The Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands shall keep a record of all orders received by him, showing the date the order was received, the date it was approved, if approved, and the date the approved order was returned to the person submitting it. The Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands shall submit semiannually to the Commissioner of Narcotics of the United States, not later than the first of September and the first of March respectively, reports covering the respective preceding semiannual periods ending June 30 and December 31, showing the total amounts and kinds of narcotic drugs for which orders were approved, the total amounts and kinds of narcotic drugs actually received in the islands during the periods, the total amounts and kinds of narcotic drugs actually sold or dispensed in the islands during the periods, and the total amounts and kinds of narcotic drugs on hand in the islands at the close of the said periods. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this order, the Director of Prohibition of the Virgin Islands, with the advice and consent of the Governor of the Virgin Islands, is hereby authorized to require such periodical reports concerning narcotic drugs from persons ordering, dealing in, selling, dispensing, prescribing, or distributing such drugs in the Virgin Islands as he shall deem appropriate for the purpose.

4. The word "person," as used in this order, shall be construed to mean and include a partnership, association, company, or corporation as well as a natural person.

5. The Commissioner of Narcotics of the United States, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall make all needful rules and regulations for carrying into effect the provisions of this order in so far as it concerns persons registered under the act of December 17, 1914 (38 Stat. 785), as amended, in the continental United States.

6. Responsibility is placed upon the Governor of the Virgin Islands to enforce the provisions of this order in the said islands in such a manner that the sale, dealing in, dispensing, prescribing, distribution, and use of narcotic drugs therein shall be confined to legitimate medical purposes. Any shipment or transfer of narcotic drugs from the continental United States not in accordance with the provisions and requirements of this order shall subject the parties responsible for such shipment or transfer to the penalties provided in the act of December 17, 1914, as amended.
